

THE CONVERSATIONALIST

by José de los Reyes, directed by Fitz Bitana.

It was my first time to watch a play at Teatro Mulat. I almost got lost even when I already have the complete address of the theater. The address was nowhere to be found on my gps. And I have never thought that there is a theater inside Teacher's Village. I wasn't expecting a grand elegant theater. Although I am more concerned with how the play will go than the artistic interior design of the stage.

Mulat theater was founded in 1977 and based on my not-so-intensive research, it was initially a theater made for puppet shows.

Inside the old theater, the stage was simple. With few white curtains hanging on the background, no curtains, no backdrops and theatrical scenery. The only prop that you can see on stage before the play starts is a bench. The theater offers seats for 40-60 people. We sat on the the last platform in the back and we were still able to hear the actors just fine. Considering the size of the theater, volume wasn't an issue at all.

Based on the handout that was given to us before the show started, "The Conversationalist" is a story about "a woman who takes money for favours. But she is not a whore. She is the Conversationalist. For a penny or two she will be anything for you and she will listen, listen to all your fears, broken dreams, and everything in between; that is until time runs out."

I was intrigued with how the story will go. Reading the synopsis will leave you with a question about why would someone need a conversationalist. And I think that the audience shared the same sentiments because I have observed that everyone was really watching and paying attention to the play.

In my opinion, the climax of the story was also the part where I got confused. There was a part of the play where I can't tell if "the conversationalist" is acting out a character or was it her real self talking. You really have to pay attention to that part or you will get lost until the play ends. It turns out that the "conversationalist" who gets paid to listen to anyone's problem also has issues that she needs to resolve. In the end, she also needed someone to converse her problems and frustrations with.

The story was clearly delivered. And the actors identified well with the characters that they are portraying. They engaged my emotions and held my attention until the very last second of the play. They leaped out of their lines. The actors' clear pronunciation, diction and right tone worked and it did a lot to amuse the audience. Yes, it a big
