(Total for Question 3 = 15 marks)

Answer:

The writer's use of direct address throughout the extract – 'you have feared' – arrestingly engages the reader, leading us to imagine the experience as happening to us as well as to Orwell. A semantic field of language related to crime – 'smuggled'; 'lies' – demonstrates the way that poverty affects the writer, forcing them into a web of deceit. The metaphor 'net of lies' also presents poverty as a trap, creating sympathy for the writer. Adverbs such as 'utterly' are also employed to create a sense of the extremity of poverty, engaging the reader through a vivid depiction of the severe hardships of Orwell's life.

The opening of this passage sets up poverty as a new experience: 'your first contact'. The novelty of this hooks the reader, making us want to discover what this 'curious' and 'complicated' new experience is like. The length of the second paragraph then reveals just how complex this experience is, using listing to detail the various injustices of poverty: 'your linen gets filthy'. The anaphora used by starting multiple paragraphs with 'you discover' continues to engage the reader with the promise of new and intriguing information. The juxtaposition of 'bread and margarine' with 'whole dead pigs' creates sympathy for the writer's hardship and hunger. The repetition of the phrase 'have to' also demonstrates the forced impact of poverty.
