Sánchez, Miguel Ortega, Alfonso Romero, 2012-11-06 Traditionally Lorentzian geometry has been used as a necessary tool to understand general relativity as well as to explore new genuine geometric behaviors far from classical Riemannian techniques Recent progress has attracted a renewed interest in this theory for many researchers long standing global open problems have been solved outstanding Lorentzian spaces and groups have been classified new applications to mathematical relativity and high energy physics have been found and further connections with other geometries have been developed Samples of these fresh trends are presented in this volume based on contributions from the VI International Meeting on Lorentzian Geometry held at the University of Granada Spain in September 2011 Topics such as geodesics maximal trapped and constant mean curvature submanifolds classifications of manifolds with relevant symmetries relations between Lorentzian and Finslerian geometries and applications to mathematical physics are included This book will be suitable for a

Reviews devoted to current knowledge of light scattering problems and both experimental and theoretical research techniques related to their solution The focus of this volume is to describe modern advances in radiative transfer and light scattering optics This book brings together the most recent studies on light radiative transfer in the terrestrial atmosphere while also reviewing environmental polarimetry The book is divided into nine chapters the first four chapters review recent advances in modern radiative transfer theory and provide detailed descriptions of radiative transfer codes e g DISORT and
