Maria Giovanna Bianchi, Monica Luci

Human Rights Council Report:

The Human Rights Council Damian Etone, 2020-01-27 This book examines the engagement of African states with the United Nations Human Rights Council's Universal Periodic Review (UPR) mechanism. This human rights mechanism is known for its pacific and non-confrontational approach to monitoring state human rights implementation. Coming at the end of the first three cycles of the UPR, the work offers a detailed analysis of the effectiveness of African states' engagement and its potential impact. It develops a framework which comprehensively evaluates aspects of states' UPR engagement such as the pre-review national consultation process and implementation of UPR recommendations which until recently have received little attention. The book considers the potential for acculturation in engagement with the UPR and unpacks the impact of politics, regionalism, cultural relativism, rights ritualism, and civil society. The work provides a useful guide for policymakers and international human rights law practitioners as well as a valuable resource for international legal and international relations academics and researchers.

Psychoanalytic, Psychosocial, and Human Rights Perspectives on Enforced Disappearance Maria Giovanna Bianchi, Monica Luci, 2023-10-30 Collecting authoritative contributions, Psychoanalytic, Psychosocial, and Human Rights Perspectives on Enforced Disappearance combines the life experience of victims with the expertise of scholars and practitioners of human rights psychoanalysis and artists to compose a picture that renders the complexity of this crime in its legal, psychological, and social aspects. Victims offer a glimpse into the bottomless despair of those who lose a family member in such a dramatic and torturous way. Academic scholars give a picture of this crime in contemporary world. Experts in human rights law address the progress and limitations of the different standards applied in international human rights law. The psychosocial framework in the context of forensic investigations and reparations encourages the decision-making process of the victims and the elaboration of their personal and collective stories. Psychoanalytic authors address the problems of perpetrators' states of mind, the profound psychological and unconscious significance of torture and the disappearance of people by the State, and the issues of memory and trauma in its multiple meanings, individual, collective, and transgenerational. Art is part of this collective effort to work through, to question, to understand, and to repair the damages of evil. The book is aimed at postgraduate students, scholars, and practitioners in politics, psychoanalysis, law, psychology, psychosocial studies, human rights, social work, and justice, and related fields.

The UN Human Rights Council Eric Tistoune, 2020-02-28 Since its establishment, the work of the Human Rights Council (UNHRC) has been subject to many interpretations, theories, comments, or conclusions. This comprehensive book dissects every aspect of the UNHRC's work and analyses the efficiency of and interactions between its mechanisms Authored by the first Secretary of the UNHRC this book provides unique practitioner insights into the complex decision making processes of the Council alongside the core variations from its predecessor The U.N. Human Rights Council United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations. Subcommittee on International Operations and Organizations, Democracy, and Human Rights, 2007

The United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Felice D. Gaer, Christen L. Broecker, 2013-10-02 In this first systematic examination of the role of the top United Nations human rights official editors Felice Gaer and Christen Broecker analyze the achievements leadership styles of and obstacles encountered by the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights and propose recommendations for the future The editors are joined by 18 expert contributors including present and former UN policymakers human rights practitioners legal scholars and current High Commissioner Navi Pillay The United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Conscience for the World examines how the six individuals who have served in this post have worked to end atrocities hold perpetrators of abuses to account promote equality and justice and provide protection and redress to victims The Human Right to Citizenship Barbara von Rütte, 2022-12-28 The open access publication of this book has been published with the support of the Swiss National Science Foundation This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the right to citizenship in international and regional human rights law It critically reflects on the limitations of state sovereignty in nationality matters and situates the right to citizenship within the existing human rights framework It identifies the scope and content of the right to citizenship by looking not only at statelessness deprivation of citizenship or dual citizenship but more broadly at acquisition loss and enjoyment of citizenship in a migration context Exploring the intersection of international migration human rights law and belonging the book provides a timely argument for recognizing a right to the citizenship of a specific state on the basis of one's effective connections to that state according to the principle of jus nexi Report of the Human Rights Council on Its Tenth Session United Nations. General Assembly, 2009 The Human Right to Water and its Application in the Occupied Palestinian Territories Amanda Cahill Ripley, 2011-04-11 The Human Right to Water and Its Application in the Occupied Palestinian Territories provides an overview and examination of the human right to water as determined under international human rights law This is a highly topical issue with the UN General Assembly having passed a resolution which declares access to clean water and sanitation a human right New York Jul 28 2010 the recent appointment of the UN Independent Expert on the issue of human rights obligations related to access to safe drinking water and sanitation and movement within the NGO community for an international water treaty Amanda Cahill Ripley analyses the current legal status substantive content and obligations correlative to the right and examines the relationship between other economic social and cultural rights related to the right to water The book goes on to look more specifically at the application of the human right to water in the Occupied Palestinian Territories Using innovative methodology Cahill Ripley combines legal analysis with a qualitative social science empirical case study to explore the enjoyment of the right on the ground The wider implications of the case study findings are then considered looking at what can be done to strengthen the right legally in terms of its status and codification and what remedy can be found for violations of the right both specifically in the Occupied Palestinian Territories and in a more general context The book will be of interest to students academics and practitioners within the fields of international human rights law and international humanitarian law as well as those concerned with international relations and conflict resolution within Israel Palestine and the wider Middle East region

South Africa and the UN Human Rights Council Eduard Jordaan, 2019-09-18 This book provides a detailed analysis of South Africa's actions on the UN Human Rights Council examining the country's positions on civil and political rights economic rights and development social groups whose rights are frequently violated and abuses in specific countries The most detailed and comprehensive study of any country's record on the UN Human Rights Council to date this book demonstrates that despite occasional support for human rights South Africa's overall record ranged from opposing to failing to support human rights This is compounded by an anti Western or anti imperial edge to South Africa's positions on the UNHRC Using South Africa as a study case of a liberal country consistently behaving illiberally this book therefore challenges the widespread belief in international relations theory typically found in liberal and constructivist thought that there is an alignment of domestic political society and foreign policy values Addressing ongoing debates since the presidency of Nelson Mandela about the place of human rights in South Africa's foreign policy South Africa and the UN Human Rights Council will be useful to students and scholars of international relations human rights international law and African politics

The United Nations Security Council in the Age of Human Rights Jared Genser, Bruno Stagno Ugarte, 2014-06-05 The first comprehensive look at the human rights dimensions of the work of the only UN body capable of compelling action by its member states

The Theory, Practice, and Interpretation of Customary International Law Panos Merkouris, Jörg Kammerhofer, Noora Arajärvi, 2022-05-26 Although customary international law CIL has been central to international law from its inception it is often misunderstood This edited volume remedies that problem by tracing the history of CIL and provides an in depth study of its theory practice and interpretation Its chapters tackle the big questions which surround this source of international law such as what are the rules that regulate the functioning of CIL as a source of international law Can CIL be interpreted Where do lines between identification interpretation application and modification of a rule of CIL lie Using recent developments this volume revisits old debates and resolves them by proffering new and innovative solutions With detailed examples from international and national courts it places CIL in a range of settings to explain explore and reflect upon this developing and highly significant field This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core and Climate Change Linnéa Nordlander,2023-11-30 This insightful and timely book examines the intersection of international climate change law and international human rights law with respect to loss and damage from climate change Bringing together these two areas of the law the volume reframes the debate on loss and damage law and offers the first systematic analysis of the legal consequences of Article 8 of the 2015 Paris Agreement both independently and in light of the concurrent applicability of human rights law to climate change harms The author outlines the legal implications of Article 8 and the extent to which the application of a human rights perspective can contribute to the interpretation and development of those implications Accessible and engaging this book has important implications for both legal doctrine and policy development at the international level This book is a valuable resource for scholars students and practitioners in human rights human rights law climate change law and international environment law

The Transformation of the Prohibition of Torture in International Law Lutz Oette,2024-07-05 The prohibition of torture and other cruel inhuman degrading treatment or punishment has a special status It is the foremost international human rights norm protecting persons from attacks on their dignity and integrity Consequently it has been at the forefront of a series of developments in international human rights law and international law more broadly Having withstood sustained challenges to its absolute nature in the war on terror it has broadened its scope of application becoming more sophisticated and complex in the process The prohibition of torture increasingly interacts with other fields of human rights law such as non discrimination law international criminal law international humanitarian law and international migration law The Transformation of the Prohibition of Torture in International Law analyses the nature and significance of this transformation and looks into the scope of the prohibition s further evolution Empirical scholarship innovative human rights body practice and challenges from activists particularly from the Global South have focused on the relational nature of torture and other ill treatment its embeddedness in wider structures of power and the role of international law in legitimizing if not facilitating widespread suffering from mass incarceration to poverty and climate change This analysis reveals an inherent tension in the prohibition between a conventional narrow focus on direct State violence and a wide lens encompassing myriad forms of suffering To retain its validity and effectiveness in the twenty first century argues Lutz Oette the prohibition on torture must navigate this tension and successfully address and transform abusive power asymmetries

Research Handbook on the Politics of Human Rights Law Bård A. Andreassen,2023-01-20 International human rights law is undoubtedly intertwined with politics and so this Research Handbook explores and provokes reflection on how politics impacts human rights legislation and conversely how human rights law shapes politics and the functioning of the state Bringing together leading international scholars in human rights law and politics the Research Handbook provides theoretical reflections and empirical analyses across the areas of governance and policies and examines the implementation mechanisms of human rights law in national and international jurisdictions

The Human Right to Water Inga Winkler,2014-08-14 The United Nations General Assembly and the Human Rights Council recognised the human right to water in 2010 This formal recognition has put the issue high on the international agenda but by itself leaves many questions unanswered This book addresses this gap and clarifies the legal status and meaning of the right to water through a detailed analysis of its legal foundations legal nature normative content and corresponding State obligations The human right to water has wide ranging implications for the distribution of water Examining these implications requires putting the right to water into the broader context of different water uses and analysing the linkages and competition with other human rights that depend on water for their realisation Water allocation is a highly political issue reflecting societal power relations with current priorities often benefitting the well off and powerful Human rights in contrast require prioritising the most basic needs of all people The human right to water has the potential to address these underlying structural causes of the lack of access to water rooted in inequalities and poverty by empowering people to hold the State accountable to live up to its human rights obligations and to demand that their basic needs are met with priority

Human Rights, Export Credits and Development Cooperation Barbara Linder, 2019-12-27 This book analyses to what extent the current human rights system allows affected individuals to claim accountability for human rights violations resulting from bilateral development and export credit agency supported undertakings The author explores three legal pathways host state responsibility home state responsibility and corporate responsibility The book concludes with recommendations on how to strengthen human rights accountability and improve access to justice for adversely affected individuals It will be of great interest to those researching the intersection between human rights development cooperation and investment

Criminal Punishment and Human Rights: Convenient Morality Adnan Sattar, 2019-03-05 This book examines the relationship between international human rights discourse and the justifications for criminal punishment Using interdisciplinary discourse analysis it exposes certain paradoxes that underpin the International Bill of Human Rights academic commentaries on human rights law and the global human rights monitoring regime in relation to the aims of punishment in domestic penal systems It argues that human rights discourse owing to its theoretical kinship with Kantian philosophy embodies a paradoxical commitment to human dignity on the one hand and retributive punishment on the other Further it sustains the split between criminal justice and social justice which results in a sociologically ill informed understanding of punishment Human rights discourse plays a paradoxical role vis vis the punitive power of the state as it seeks to counter criminalisation in some areas and backs the introduction of new criminal offences and longer prison sentences in others The underlying priorities it is argued have been shaped by a number of historical circumstances Drawing on archival material the study demonstrates that the international penal discourse produced during the late nineteenth and early twentieth century laid greater emphasis on offender rehabilitation and was more attentive to the social context of crime than is the case with the modern human rights discourse

Human Rights in Armed Conflict Gerd Oberleitner, 2015-03-05 It is now widely accepted that international human rights law applies in situations of armed conflict alongside international humanitarian law but the contours and consequences of this development remain unclear This book revisits organizes and contextualizes the debate on human rights in armed conflict and explores the legal challenges operational consequences and policy implications of resorting to human rights in situations of inter and intra state violence It presents the benefits and the drawbacks of using international human rights law alongside humanitarian law and discusses how the idea law and policy of human rights influence the development of the law of armed conflict Based on legal theory policy analysis state practice and the work of human rights bodies it suggests a human rights oriented reading of the law of armed conflict as feasible and necessary in response to the changing character of war
