Therefore many Western entrepreneurs still associate risk rather than opportunity with Russia. But nevertheless Russia still remains the world's largest country in terms of territory spanning nine time zones with a population of over 140 million people. Such massive changes as the liberalization and rapid growth of the Russian economy, its substantial growth in purchasing power and a relative lack of competition in some sectors make that challenging environment an attractive destination for foreign investment, especially for the German. Since 1997 Germany remains Russia's most important trade partner worldwide. Russia's exports to Germany went up to 30 Billion Euros in 2006 and 28,8 in 2007. But for the German companies Russian market is not less important. In 2007 the exports to Russia have had an impressive value of 28,2 Billion Euros which has increased to 20,6% from the year before. It must be noted, however, that Russia's traditional exchange of goods with its Western partners mainly sustains the export of its raw materials, energy and the import of manufactured goods. Anyway, the close link and the growing dependency of both countries over the years become more and more evident. And both trade partners are considered as quite compatible as it can shortly be described by: The German Market can deliver whatever the Russian Market desires. But these business engagement opportunities now appear in an environment significantly different from the German investor's habitual home culture and culture is a crucial factor of human resource management.      Handbook of Research on E-Transformation and Human Resources Management Technologies: Organizational Outcomes and Challenges Bondarouk, Tanya, Ruel, Huub, Guiderdoni-Jourdain, Karine, Oiry, Ewan, 2009-04-30 Provides practical situated and unique knowledge on innovative e-HRM technologies and expands on theoretical conceptualizations of e-HRM.      Work Organization and Human Resource Management Carolina Machado, J.
