Hurricane Katrina as one of the Most Catastrophic Natural Disasters

Hurricane Katrina was among the most catastrophic natural disasters within the United States history. On August 23, 2005, the tropical storm formed off the coast of the Bahamas. Throughout the next seven days, "the tropical storm grew into a catastrophic hurricane" (Townsend, 2006) first making landfall in Florida, then along the Gulf Coast of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, "leaving behind a trail of heartbreaking devastation and human suffering" (Townsend, 2006). Katrina brought astonishing destruction, flooding the historic city of New Orleans, and ultimately killing over 1,300 people.

On August 29, in the early hours of the morning, Americans awoke to reports of Katrina's landfall on the Gulf Coast and watched the events unfold. Viewers watched in amazement at the fierceness of nature which quickly changed to disappointment after seeing the inability for government agencies local, state and federal, to effectively respond to the disaster. Hurricane Katrina "exposed significant flaws in Federal, State and local preparedness for catastrophic events and our capacity to respond to them" (Townsend, 2006). Emergency plans at all levels of government were incompetent at aiding during a time of complete devastation. Millions of Americans were left to protect themselves and their families.

Hurricane Katrina's damage was so extensive. It effected the economy, regional power infrastructure, and communications. Between the months of August and September, the most affected areas of Louisiana and Mississippi saw the unemployment rate increase from 6 to 12 percent. But Hurricane Katrina did not just impact the Gulf Coast, it reached the entire country though the rising prices of gasoline. The storm "forced the temporary shutdown of most crude oil and natural gas production in the Gulf of Mexico" (Townsend, 2006).

Gasoline prices rose dramatically across the nation. The storm completely devastated the regional power infrastructure leaving approximately 2.5 million power outages in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. All communication systems suffered as well. Katrina "crippled thirty-eight 11 call centers, disrupting local emergency services, and knocked out more than 3 million customer phone lines" (Townsend, 2006). Those who were stranded were unable to call for help and search and rescue teams had no way of communicating their need for more teams.

Communication systems were rendered useless. But the most terrible damage from Hurricane Katrina was the effect it had on humans. The aftermath of the storm left survivors feeling a mixture of depression, grief and fear. Victims found it difficult to reconstruct their lives. On many occasions, people had left behind basic paperwork such as insurance cards, birth certificates, marriage licenses and other documents that would later prove essential to rebuilding their lives. Many people were left without access to medical records which made it hard to rece

Representations of Natural Catastrophes in Newspaper Discourse Dita Trčková, 2016-01-01 Monografie je v zřetelnou studii zabývající se znázorněním přírodních katastrof v novinách vydaných v zemích anglicky mluvících Vzhledem k tomu, že se snaží zodpovědět, komu je v novinách diskurz o přírodních katastrofách a kým je vytvořen, zkoumá se, jak přírodní jevy tak sociální faktory zjišťují, jak se diskurz vyvíjí v rozporech mezi přírodními katastrofami a osvícenskou ideologií nad azeností lovců nad přírodou a zkoumá, jak jsou nejnovější diskursivní strategie, které vedou k dramatizaci událostí Zvolenou metodologií je kritická analýza diskurzu, který se zaměřuje na zkoumání hlavních témat lexikální a syntaktické rozborů a analýzu narativní struktury příběhu Media and Mass Atrocity Allan Thompson, 2019-04-05 When human beings are at their worst as they most certainly were in Rwanda during the 1994 genocide the world needs the institutions of journalism and the media to be at their best Sadly in Rwanda the media fell short Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the case of Rwanda but also examines how the nexus between media and mass atrocity has been shaped by the dramatic rise of social media It has been twenty five years since Rwanda slid into the abyss The killings happened in broad daylight but many of us turned away A quarter century later there is still much to learn about the relationship between the media and genocide an issue laid bare by the Rwanda tragedy Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the debate over the role of traditional news media in Rwanda where confronted by the horrors taking place international news media for the most part turned away and at times muddled the story when they did pay attention Hate media outlets in Rwanda played a role in laying the groundwork for genocide and then actively encouraged the extermination campaign The news media not only failed to fully grasp and communicate the genocide but mostly overlooked the war crimes committed during the genocide and in its aftermath by the Rwandan Patriotic Front The global media landscape has been transformed since Rwanda We are now saturated with social media generated as often as not by non journalists Mobile phones are everywhere And in many quarters the traditional news media business model continues to recede Against that backdrop it is more important than ever to examine the nexus between media and mass atrocity The book includes an extensive section on the echoes of Rwanda which looks at the cases of Darfur the Central African Republic Myanmar and South Sudan while the impact of social media as a new actor is examined through chapters on social media use by the Islamic State and in Syria and in other contexts across the developing world It also looks at the aftermath of the genocide the shifting narrative of the genocide itself the evolving debate over the role and impact of hate media in Rwanda the challenge of digitizing archival records of the genocide and the fostering of free and independent media in atrocity s wake The volume also probes how journalists themselves confront mass atrocity and examines the preventive function of media through the use of advanced digital technology as well as radio programming in the Lake Chad Basin and the Democratic Republic of Congo Media and Mass Atrocity questions what the lessons of Rwanda mean now in an age of communications so dramatically influenced by social media and the relative decline of traditional news media Selected Papers from the 14th Estuarine and Coastal Modeling Conference Richard P. Signell, 2018-06-27 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Selected Papers from the 14th Estuarine and Coastal Modeling Conference that was published in JMSE Public paper of the presidents of the United States George W. Bush, 1982 The Dark Side of Innovation Alex Coad, Paul Nightingale, Jack Stilgoe, Antonio Vezzani, 2022-02-24 This book is a reaction to popular assumptions that innovation is always a force for good While the popular press and politicians often take the view that the more innovation the better the chapters in this edited volume reflect on the harmful effects of innovation on society and the environment The book begins with a broad discussion of the dark side of innovation followed by contributions by various experts in the area It is a critical reply to the innovation optimists complementing the list of indicators that show steady human progress with a list of indicators that show sustained deterioration largely due to innovation The volume outlines some relevant dimensions of harmful innovation before distinguishing between the types of harm brought on by innovation The various contributed chapters focus on the following themes a bibliometric analysis of the scientific literature on the harmful consequences of innovation harmful side effects from solar photovoltaic waste harmful consequences of process innovations on working practices in areas such as accountancy the difficulties of transferring innovations from research to practice in clinical healthcare and the harmful consequences of social innovations The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Industry and Innovation The Future of the Gulf Coast United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Finance, 2006 Climate Change, Hazards and Adaptation Options Walter Leal Filho, Gustavo J. Nagy, Marco Borga, Pastor David Chávez Muñoz, Artur Magnuszewski, 2020-02-14 This book addresses the issue of climate change risks and hazards holistically Climate change adaptation aims at managing climate risks and hazards to an acceptable level taking advantage of any positive opportunities that may arise At the same time developing suitable responses to hazards for communities and users of climate services is important in ensuring the success of adaptation measures But despite this knowledge about adaptation options including possible actions that can be implemented to improve adaptation and reduce the impacts of climate change hazards is still limited Addressing this need the book presents studies and research findings and offers a catalogue of potential adaptation options that can be explored It also includes case studies providing illustrative and inspiring examples of how we can adapt to a changing climate Crime, Violence, and Global Warming John Crank, Linda Jacoby, 2015-05-20 Crime Violence and Global Warming introduces the many connections between climate change and criminal activity Conflict over natural resources can escalate to state and non state actors resulting in wars asymmetrical warfare and terrorism Crank and Jacoby apply criminological theory to each aspect of this complicated web helping readers to evaluate conflicting claims about global warming and to analyze evidence of the current and potential impact of climate change on conflict and crime Beginning with an overview of the science of global warming the authors move on to the links between climate change scarce resources and crime Their approach takes in the full scope of causes and consequences present and future in the United States and throughout the world The book concludes by looking ahead at the problem of forecasting future security implications if global warming continues or accelerates This fresh approach to the criminology of climate change challenges readers to examine all sides of this controversial question and to formulate their own analysis of our planet s future African Americans in Georgia Pearl K. Ford, 2010 Provides an understanding of the intersection of race and region while addressing contemporary issues such as the future of elementary and higher education the nature of health care disparities and voting and representation The research presented here reveals that race and class based problems remain and geography often is a contributing factor to those differences GATE Sociology Latest Book II Solved Previous Year Paper II 2021 to 2025 II With 1500 Chapter Wise MCQ II 2 in 1 Book II PYQ + MCQ II With Detail Solution II As Per Exam Pattern DIWAKAR EDUCATION HUB, 2025-07-10 Key Features Solved PYQs 2021 2025 In depth step by step solutions with conceptual clarity 1500 Chapter Wise MCQs Targeted questions for each topic to build and test your understanding Updated as per Latest Syllabus Fully aligned with the current GATE Sociology curriculum and exam pattern Detailed Explanations Each question includes thorough explanations to enhance learning and retention Perfect for Self Study Easy to understand language logical flow and exam oriented content The Crisis of Journalism Reconsidered Jeffrey C.
