The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1998

The Sutherland Inquiry Stewart R. Sutherland, Great Britain. Department for Children, Schools and Families, 2008 The Sutherland Inquiry HCP 62 session 2008 09 ISBN 9780102958393 is an independent inquiry remitted by the Office of the Qualifications and Examinations Regulator Ofqual and the Secretary of State for Children Schools and Families into the delivery of the National Curriculum tests in 2008 In July 2008 1 2 million pupils heard that their National Curriculum test results would be delayed The test delivery service represented a failure in customer delivery service to the pupils schools and also the markers upon whom the National Curriculum testing regime relies The primary responsibility must therefore rest with the American organisation ETS Global BV ETS which won the public contract to deliver the tests and failed its customers This report examines how this organisation secured the contract what its plans were and why its systems and process as a whole were not properly tested The report will also describe how ETS s systems failed during the test delivery process There was also a failure on the part of the Government s Non Departmental Public Body the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority to deliver its remit The report also sets out the procurement process that QCA used to select its delivery supplier ETS and how it managed the contract The report sets out a number of recommendations on how test delivery can improve in future years and has set out a number of key priorities including that the delivery process of the National Curriculum tests should be modernised and improved in consultation with the marking community including piloting online marking that whatever process is used should be thoroughly piloted and project managed to ensure schools and pupils get their results on time that the customer service provided to markers must be vastly improved to ensure that they are properly supported and are able to access up to date information

Schools and the Equal Opportunity Problem Ludger Woessmann, Paul E. Peterson, 2007 Leading researchers from the United States and Europe report on new findings on the effect of education on equal opportunity using economic and statistical techniques to assess the results of education policy reform in countries including the United States Britain Sweden Germany and Italy Much educational research today is focused on assessing reforms that are intended to create equal opportunity for all students Many current policies aim at concentrating extra resources on the disadvantaged The state of the art research in Schools and the Equal Opportunity Problem suggests however that even sizeable differential spending on the disadvantaged will not yield an equality of results In this CESifo volume leading scholars from the United States and Europe use the tools of economics to assess the outcome of efforts to solve education s equal opportunity problem in a range of countries including the United States Britain Germany Sweden and Italy The evidence shows some routes for advancement testing with high performance standards for example and well designed school choice but also raises considerable doubts about whether many current school policies are effective in dramatically altering the opportunity structure The evidence presented also calls into question the idea that causal peer effects are very strong The contributors examine such topics as the link between education and parental income the problematic past research on peer effects tracking the distribution of educational outcomes human capital policy aimed at disadvantaged students and private public school choice The research suggests that achieving universal primary and secondary education is both urgently needed and feasible Will the international community commit the necessary economic human and political resources The challenge say the editors is as inspiring and formidable as any extraterrestrial adventures and far more likely to enrich and improve life on earth
