Eleven And Other American Comedies:

The New York Times Book Reviews 2000 New York Times Staff, 2001 This anthology examines Love's Labours Lost from a variety of perspectives and through a wide range of materials. Selections discuss the play in terms of historical context, dating and sources, character analysis, comic elements and verbal conceits, evidence of authorship, performance analysis and feminist interpretations. Alongside theater reviews, production photographs and critical commentary, the volume also includes essays written by practicing theater artists who have worked on the play. An index by name, literary work and concept rounds out this valuable resource.

Kinds of American Film Comedy Wes D. Gehring, 2024-02-14 This groundbreaking film study begins with a survey of American print humorists from eras leading up to and overlapping the advent of film, including some who worked both on the page and on the screen, like Robert Benchley, Will Rogers, Groucho Marx, and W. C. Fields. Six comic film genres are identified as outgrowths of a national tradition: Cracker Barrel philosophy, personality comedy, parody, screwball comedy, romantic comedy, and dark comedy. Whether it is Mark Twain or a parody film involving Steve Martin, comedy is most often about blowing raspberries at the world, and a reminder you are not alone.

Focus On: 100 Most Popular American Teen Comedy Films Wikipedia contributors, Fierce Pajamas David Remnick, Henry

Finder, 2001-12-11 When Harold Ross founded The New Yorker in 1925, he described it as a comic weekly. And although it has become much more than that, it has remained true in its irreverent heart to the founder's description: publishing the most illustrious literary humorists of the modern era, among them Robert Benchley, Dorothy Parker, Groucho Marx, George S. Kaufman, James Thurber, S. J. Perelman, Peter De Vries, Mike Nichols, Marshall Brickman, Woody Allen, Donald Barthelme, Calvin Trillin, George W. S. Trow, Veronica Geng, Garrison Keillor, Ian Frazier, Roy Blount Jr., Bruce McCall, Steve Martin, Christopher Buckley, and Paul Rudnick. This anthology gathers together for the first time the funniest work of more than seventy New Yorker contributors. Parodists take on not only writers like Hemingway and Kerouac, but TV documentaries, Italian cinema, and etiquette books. Enough have been published, Robert Benchley maintains, that there should be no danger of toppling over forward into the wrong soup or getting into arguments as to which elbow belongs on which arm. Other pieces offer perspectives on the heights of fame, the depths of social embarrassment, and the ups and downs of love and sex. Such well-loved sketches as Thurber's The Secret Life of Walter Mitty take their place alongside light-hearted essays on food, tennis, and taxis, and flights of fancy that follow an apparently simple premise to the point of no return, and sometimes well beyond. Here you will find large insights: Woody Allen, Why does man kill? He kills for food. And not only food: frequently there must be a beverage and hard-earned wisdom. Ian Frazier on dating your mom: Here is a grown, experienced, loving woman, one you do not have to go to a party or a singles bar to meet, one you do not have to go to great lengths to know. And not least, a great deal of helpful advice, including Steve Martin's on memory and middle age: Bored Here's a way the over-fifty set can easily kill a good half hour. 1. Place your car keys in your right hand. 2. With your left hand, call a friend and confirm a lunch or dinner.
