From Cairo To Baghdad British Travellers In Arabia:

From Cairo to Baghdad James Canton, 2011 This is a major contribution to our understanding of British interest in and understanding of the Middle East between the occupation of Egypt in 1882 and the invasion of Iraq in 2003 James Canton deftly probes into ways that travel writing produced during this period was unavoidably caught up and complicit in the twin developments of mass tourism and imperialism Organized chronologically and thematically this study reveals a much richer and more complex range of cultural interactions and mutual engagements than the still powerful notion of a clash between civilisations

From Cairo to Baghdad James Canton, 2014-08-25 Until the 1880s British travellers to Arabia were for the most part wealthy dilettantes who could fund their travels from private means With the advent of an Imperial presence in the region as the British seized power in Egypt the very nature of travel to the Middle East changed Suddenly ordinary men and women found themselves visiting the region as British influence increased Missionaries soldiers and spies as well as tourists and explorers started to visit the area creating an ever bigger supply of writers and market for their books In a similar fashion as the Empire receded in the wake of World War II so did the whole tradition of Middle East travel writing In this elegantly crafted book James Canton examines over one hundred primary sources from forgotten gems to the classics of T E Lawrence Thesiger and Philby He analyses the relationship between Empire and author showing how the one influenced the other leading to a vast array of texts that might never have been produced had it not been for the ambitions of Imperial Britain This work makes for essential reading for all of those interested in the literature of Empire travel writing and the Middle East

Handbook of British Travel Writing Barbara Schaff, 2020-09-07 This handbook offers a systematic exploration of current key topics in travel writing studies It addresses the history impact and unique discursive variety of British travel writing by covering some of the most celebrated and canonical authors of the genre as well as lesser known ones in more than thirty close reading chapters Combining theoretically informed astute literary criticism of single texts with the analysis of the circumstances of their production and reception these chapters offer excellent possibilities for understanding the complexity and cultural relevance of British travel writing

British Women Travellers Sutapa Dutta, 2019-08-21 This book studies the exclusive refractive perspectives of British women who took up the twin challenges of travel and writing when Britain was establishing itself as the greatest empire on earth Contributors explore the ways in which travel writing has defined women's engagement with Empire and British identity and was inextricably linked with the issue of identity formation With a capacious geographical canvas this volume examines the multifaceted relations and negotiations of British women travellers in a range of different imperial contexts across continents from America Africa Europe to Australia

The British Abroad Since the Eighteenth Century, Volume 2 Xavier Guégan, 2013-11-19 This is a collection of twelve interdisciplinary essays from international scholars concerned with examining the British experience of Empire since the eighteenth century It considers themes such as national identity modernity culture social class diplomacy consumerism

gender postcolonialism and perceptions of Britain's place in the world

The Arabian Desert in English Travel Writing Since 1950 Jenny Walker, 2022-12-30 Broadly this book is about the Arabian desert as the locus of exploration by a long tradition of British travellers that includes T E Lawrence and Wilfred Thesiger more specifically it is about those who since 1950 have followed in their literary footsteps In analysing modern works covering a land greater than the sum of its geographical parts the discussion identifies outmoded tropes that continue to impinge upon the perception of the Middle East today while recognising that the laboured binaries of East and West desert and sown noble and savage have outrun their course Where however only a barren legacy of latent Orientalism may have been expected the author finds instead a rich seam of writing that exhibits diversity of purpose and insight contributing to contemporary discussions on travel and tourism intercultural representation and environmental awareness By addressing a lack of scholarly attention towards recent additions to the genre this study illustrates for the benefit of students of travel literature or indeed anyone interested in Arabia how desert writing under the emerging configurations of globalisation postcolonialism and ecocriticism acts as a microcosm of the kinds of ethical and emotional dilemmas confronting today's travel writers in the world's most extreme regions

From Khartoum to Jerusalem Rachel Mairs, 2016-05-05 In 2014 a collection of papers was found on eBay a scrapbook inside which was written Testimonial Book of Dragoman Solomon N Negima The letters pasted into the testimonial book bear recommendations of Negima's services as dragoman a combination of tourist guide and interpreter in the Holy Land from travellers of different nationalities social classes religions genders and races Using these reference letters and the first hand published and unpublished accounts of the travellers themselves this book tells the stories of several such tourists including the intrepid Victorian female traveller Ellen E Miller and an African American minister Rev Charles T Walker who had been born into slavery Between the lines of others letters Solomon Negima's remarkable life story also emerges from a German mission school in Jerusalem to the British army in the Sudan to a successful career as a dragoman in Palestine and Syria and finally to comfortable retirement with his son Aziz and daughter Olinda at a Mormon mission in Jerusalem The discovery of this unique scrapbook allows us an insight into the lives of individuals whose histories would otherwise be lost to us and a new perspective on the history of travel in the Middle East

Marmaduke Pickthall: Islam and the Modern World, 2017-04-11 This new volume of essays marks eighty years since the death of Marmaduke Pickthall His various roles as translator of the Qur'an traveller to the Near East political journalist writing on behalf of Muslim Turkey and creator of the Muslim novel are discussed In later life Pickthall became a prominent member of the British Muslim community in London and Woking co worker with Muslims in the Indian subcontinent supporter of the Khilafat movement and editor of the journal Islamic Culture under the patronage of the Nizam of Hyderabad Marmaduke Pickthall Islam and the Modern World makes an important contribution to the field of Muslims in Europe in the first half of the twentieth century Contributors are Humayun Ansari Adnan Ashraf James Canton Peter Clark Ron Geaves A R Kidwai

Mohammad Sakhnini,2023-03-14 This book argues that eighteenth century British travel writings about the Arabian Overland Routes to India offered fascinating anecdotes of encounters that allow us to rethink Enlightenment understanding of the meaning of improvement Travelling among and writing about the inhabitants government culture religion and ruins of Syria and Mesopotamia offered Britons opportunities to pose themselves in their narratives as men of improvement abroad To that end travelling appeared in their books as serious attempt to improve their readers knowledge about a region that many in Britain saw as decayed barbaric and primitive But the various encounters British travellers experienced in the region allowed them to negotiate the impact of excessive materialism on the traditions morality religion and landscape of eighteenth century Britain At the heart of this book s understanding of Enlightenment writings about the Levant is the idea that a journey in a region which many considered as a theatre for the arts sciences and military conquests in the past and decay in the present represents a fraught relationship modern Europeans had with the past present and future The African Book

Publishing Record ,2012 A Traveller in Thirteenth-Century Arabia / Ibn al-Mujawir's Tarikh al-Mustabsir G. Rex Smith,2017-05-15 This is the first English translation of the Tarikh al Mustabsir written in the early quarter of the thirteenth century by Ibn al Mujawir The text is a fascinating account of the western and southern areas of the Arabian Peninsula by a man from the east of the Islamic world probably from Khurasan in Iran Ibn al Mujawir was a man who in all probability followed the age old Islamic practice of making the pilgrimage to Mecca and thereafter travelling in the area to further his business interests His route began in Mecca and essentially ran south through the Red Sea coastal plain Tihamah down into the Yemen and along the southern coast of the peninsula He paused long in Aden where he observed closely the activities of the port to report at some length on its administration its taxes its markets its currency its weights and measures and the like His route then continued along the southern coast of Arabia into the Gulf and he presumably returned home to the east via Iraq The author is a wonderful observer of people their buildings their dress their customs their agriculture their food and their history This book is a unique source for the social and economic history of thirteenth century south Arabia written with a humour and wit otherwise unknown in the writings of medieval Islam The text is of major linguistic importance too written as it is in a far from classical Arabic This translation is fully annotated with an introduction appendices glossary and full index and contains maps and illustrations
