So when she stumbles across a photograph of a boy with an eerie resemblance to him she can't pass up the chance to track him down. With research for work as her cover she sets out with one of the station's photogs for the place where the picture was taken the town of Sanctuary. Almost as soon as she arrives she meets the town's handsome young mayor Rueben King and together they begin to uncover long held secrets that could tear the small town apart and change everything. As she learns more about Hannah's death the circumstances are eerily similar to their parents' murder. Sarah enlists Paul's help in digging deeper into the murders the police are dismissing as burglaries gone wrong. Paul's concern encourages Sarah's growing feelings for him but as their investigation peels back the layers of lies almost twenty years old they get close to uncovering the truth one person will do anything to hide even if that means coming after the last remaining members of the Miller family.

While the other reporters write off the tip as the ravings of an angry criminal Sophie can't ignore it because she knows the name of this prisoner from her old life. Upon learning from the man that one of the other suspects is hiding out in the Missouri town of Sanctuary she takes on a false identity to investigate and meets the young pastor of a local church the very man she'd loved as a troubled teenager.
