David Santance,2006-03-16 Cricket was played in Virginia in 1710 and was enjoyed on Georgia plantations in 1737. Teams representing New York and Philadelphia faced each other as early as 1838. By 1865 Philadelphia was considered the best cricket playing city in the United States competing against Canadian, English and Australian teams from 1890 to 1920. This 30 year span was essential to the formation of America's sports identity and by its end while the sport of baseball drew increasing attention the game of cricket moved from being the game of America's aristocrats to a safe haven for America's nonwhite immigrants who were excluded from baseball because of Jim Crow laws. Here the game's unique multi ethnic religious and cultural tradition in the United States is fully explored. The author explains cricket's ties to the beginnings of baseball and covers the ways in which the game continues to play an important role in America's inner cities.      British Railways in the 1960s: Eastern Region Geoff Plumb,2025-08-30 After the Second World War Britain's railways were rundown and worn out requiring massive investment and modernisation. The Big Four railway companies were nationalised from 1948 and the newly formed British Railways embarked on a programme of building new Standard steam locomotives to replace older types These started to come on stream from 1951 This programme was superseded by the 1955 scheme to dieselise and electrify many lines and so the last loco of the Standard types was built in 1960 and the steam locomotives had been swept entirely from the BR network by 1968 This series of books The Geoff Plumb Collection is a photographic account of those last few years of the steam locomotives their decline and replacement during the transition years Each book covers one of the former Big Four in the form of the BR Regions they became the Southern Railway London Midland Scottish Railway Great Western Railway and London North Eastern Railway including some pictures of the Scottish lines of the LMS and LNER The books are not intended to convey a complete history of the railways but to illustrate how things were to a certain extent in the relatively recent past and impart some information through comprehensive captions which give a sense of occasion often a last run of a locomotive type or over a stretch of line about to be closed down The photos cover large parts of the country though it was impossible to get everywhere given the overall timetable of just a few years mainly when the author was still a schoolboy with limited time and disposable income to get around Pictures are of the highest quality that could be produced with the equipment then available but they do reflect real life and real times In simple terms a look at a period not so long ago but now gone forever
