Journal Of The Wexford Historical Society No 14:

Famous Wexfordians Liam Gaul,2019-05-06 Much has been written and reported on the broad canvas of the history of County Wexford over the centuries but Famous Wexfordians seeks to revitalise interest in some of the principal players that have almost faded into obscurity This book tells the story of maritime adventurers sports personalities artists musicians soldiers political eladers and princes of the Church who have all left an indelible mark on the south east corner of Ireland Author Liam Gaul offers a thorough and absorbing account of Wexford s lesser known history through these who have lived in and visited the county

Black '47 and Beyond Cormac Ó Gráda,2020-09-01 Here Ireland s premier economic historian and one of the leading authorities on the Great Irish Famine examines the most lethal natural disaster to strike Europe in the nineteenth century Between the mid eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries the food source that we still call the Irish potato had allowed the fastest population growth in the whole of Western Europe As vividly described in Gr da s new work the advent of the blight phytophthora infestans transformed the potato from an emblem of utility to a symbol of death by starvation The Irish famine peaked in Black 47 but it brought misery and increased mortality to Ireland for several years Central to Irish and British history European demography the world history of famines and the story of American immigration the Great Irish Famine is presented here from a variety of new perspectives Moving away from the traditional narrative historical approach to the catastrophe Gr da concentrates instead on fresh insights available through interdisciplinary and comparative methods He highlights several economic and sociological features of the famine previously neglected in the literature such as the part played by traders and markets by medical science and by migration Other topics include how the Irish climate usually hospitable to the potato exacerbated the failure of the crops in 1845 1847 and the controversial issue of Britain s failure to provide adequate relief to the dying Irish Gr da also examines the impact on urban Dublin of what was mainly a rural disaster and offers a critical analysis of the famine as represented in folk memory and tradition The broad scope of this book is matched by its remarkable range of sources published and archival The book will be the starting point for all future research into the Irish famine

Traditional Music and Irish Society: Historical Perspectives Martin Dowling,2016-02-24 Written from the perspective of a scholar and performer Traditional Music and Irish Society investigates the relation of traditional music to Irish modernity The opening chapter integrates a thorough survey of the early sources of Irish music with recent work on Irish social history in the eighteenth century to explore the question of the antiquity of the tradition and the class locations of its origins Dowling argues in the second chapter that the formation of what is today called Irish traditional music occurred alongside the economic and political modernization of European society in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Dowling goes on to illustrate the public discourse on music during the Irish revival in newspapers and journals from the 1880s to the First World War also drawing on the works of Pierre Bourdieu and Jacques Lacan to place the field of music within the public sphere of nationalist politics and cultural revival in these decades The situation of music and song in the Irish literary revival is then reflected and interpreted in the life and work of James Joyce and Dowling includes treatment of Joyce's short stories A Mother and The Dead and the Sirens chapter of Ulysses Dowling conducted field work with Northern Irish musicians during 2004 and 2005 and also reflects directly on his own experience performing and working with musicians and arts organizations in order to conclude with an assessment of the current state of traditional music and cultural negotiation in Northern Ireland in the second decade of the twenty first century

Social change and everyday life in Ireland, 1850-1922 Caitriona Clear, 2013-07-19 Men and women who were born grew up and died in Ireland between 1850 and 1922 made decisions to train to emigrate to stay at home to marry to stay single to stay at school based on the knowledge and resources they had at the time This the first comprehensive social history of Ireland for the years 1850 1922 to appear since 1981 tries to understand that knowledge and to discuss those resources for men and women at all social levels on the island as a whole Original research particularly on extreme poverty and public health is supplemented by neglected published sources local history journals popular autobiography newspapers Folklore and Irish language sources are used extensively All recent scholarly books in Irish social history are of course referred to throughout the book but it is a lively read reproducing the voices of the people and the stories of individuals whenever it can questioning much of the accepted wisdom of Irish historiography over the past five decades Statistics are used from time to time for illustrative purposes but tables and graphs are consigned to the appendix at the back There are some illustrations An idea summary for the student loaded with prompts for future research this book is written in a non cliched jargon free style aimed at the general reader

Rebellions Tom Dunne, 2004 A blend of history historiography and memoir Rebellions explores the shadowlands of the historical and the personal Dunne brings his upbringing in a republican Catholic family and his years as a Christian Brother to bear on the commemorations of the bicentenary of the 1798 rebellion

The Journal of the Friends' Historical Society Friends' Historical Society, 1906

The Journal of the Royal Historical and Archaeological Association of Ireland Royal Historical and Archaeological Association of Ireland, 1874 Index of archaeological papers published in 1891 under the direction of the Congress of Archaeological Societies in union with the Society of Antiquaries

Remembering the Year of the French Guy Beiner, 2007 Delving into the folk history found in Ireland's oral traditions this work reveals alternate visions of the Irish past and brings into focus the vernacular histories folk commemorative practices and negotiations of memory that have gone unnoticed by historians

The Hook Peninsula Billy Colfer, 2004 The Hook Peninsula continues the Irish Rural Landscape series building on the research agenda established by the internationally successful Atlas of the Irish Rural Landscape Located in county Wexford this region was the first to be conquered by the Anglo Normans and its landscape was shaped by the establishment of two Cistercian abbeys Tintern and Dunbrody in the Middle Ages The location of the peninsula beside a major estuary and busy shipping lanes was of vital importance The Hook figured prominently in the Confederate Wars in the seventeenth century and in the 1798 rebellion This compact and highly distinctive peninsula makes for a compelling case study in which Billy Colfer carefully knits the local story into a wider narrative. An eye for detail and an intuitive understanding of his local community creates a vivid story while Colfer's obvious love for the Hook infuses the volume with an underlying passion all the more moving for being understated. Ireland, an island nation, has at last a volume informed by a maritime perspective from a writer who understands the sea and its formative influence on landscapes and lives. In these beautiful pages an astonishing array of maps, photographs, paintings, archive sketches and new drawings ensure that the Hook landscape is given a radiant treatment.
