Hobbs, 2007-03-29 Landscape ecology is a relatively new area of study which aims to understand the pattern of interaction of biological and cultural communities within a landscape This book brings together leading figures from the field to provide an up to date survey of recent advances identify key research problems and suggest a future direction for development and expansion of knowledge Providing in depth reviews of the principles and methods for understanding landscape patterns and changes the book illustrates concepts with examples of innovative applications from different parts of the world Forming a current state of the science for the science of landscape ecology this book forms an essential reference for graduate students academics professionals and practitioners in ecology environmental science natural resource management and landscape planning and design Crisis and Conflict in Agriculture Rami Zurayk, Eckart Woertz, Rachel Bahn, 2018-09-18 This volume sets out to explore the dialectic relating agriculture crisis and conflict and attempts to expand the knowledge on these interactions Part 1 of the volume chapters 1-6 discusses thematic issues and methodological approaches to understanding the intersection of agriculture crisis and conflict Part 2 chapters 7 20 provides case studies that take a detailed approach to understanding agricultural contexts facing crisis and conflict or the role played by agriculture within crisis and conflict Studies are selected from areas that might be expected to feature in such a volume the Middle East and North Africa sub Saharan Africa South and Southeast Asia and Latin America as well as less obvious regions where conflict within agriculture refers not to widespread violence or wars but rather latent or simmering crisis Central Asia and Europe Crises stemming from politically driven violence natural disasters and climate change are covered as well as competition over resources
