Reconstructing Human Rights Joe Hoover,2016-06-02 We live in a human rights world The language of human rights claims and numerous human rights institutions shape almost all aspects of our political lives yet we struggle to know how to judge this development Scholars give us good reason to be both supportive and sceptical of the universal claims that human rights enable alternatively suggesting that they are pillars of cross cultural understanding of justice or the ideological justification of a violent and exclusionary global order All too often however our evaluations of our human rights world are not based on sustained consideration of their complex ambiguous and often contradictory consequences Reconstructing Human Rights argues that human rights are only as good as the ends they help us realise We must attend to what ethical principles actually do in the world to know their value So for human rights we need to consider how the identity of humanity and the concept of rights shape our thinking structure our political activity and contribute to social change Reconstructing Human Rights defends human rights as a tool that should enable us to challenge political authority and established

constellations of political membership by making new claims possible Human rights mobilise the identity of humanity to make demands upon the terms of legitimate authority and challenges established political memberships In this work it is argued that this tool should be guided by a democratising ethos in pursuit of that enables claims for more democratic forms of politics and more inclusive political communities While this work directly engages with debates about human rights in philosophy and political theory in connecting our evaluations of the value of human rights to their worldly consequences it will also be of interest to scholars considering human rights across disciplines including Law Sociology and Anthropology identities and forms of oppression collaboration and coalition building are required if we are to attain sustainable equality and healing justice Organizing Equality engages activist and scholarly debates about the organization of social and economic equality movements around the globe The collection covers a myriad of issues approaches and experiences forging a link between critical scholarly studies and journalistic and artistic works that offer more personal and hands on perspectives Moving from a broad discussion of resistance and solidarity contributors examine case studies in their specific national contexts such as movement building in Greece caste politics in India land struggles in Guatemala student debt resistance movements in the United States and the fight to indigenize higher education in Canada Organizing Equality encourages understanding and collaboration between opposing views as a means of discovering new practices of seeing learning organizing and being together in our movements for equality

Homosexualities, Muslim Cultures and Modernity M. Rahman, 2014-01-30 This book addresses the increasing role of queer politics within forms of Islamophobia both by exploring the framing of lesbian gay bisexual and transgender LGBT issues as a key marker of western superiority and by identifying the ways in which Muslim homophobia contributes to this dialectic

The Urban Political Economy and Ecology of Automobility Alan Walks, 2014-07-25 Just how resilient are our urban societies to social energy environmental and or financial shocks and how does this vary among cities and nations Can our cities be made more sustainable and can environmental economic and social collapse be staved off through changes in urban form and travel behaviour How might rising indebtedness and the recent series of financial crises be related to automobile dependence and patterns of urban automobile use To what extent does the system and economy of automobility factor in the production of urban socio spatial inequalities and how might these inequalities in mobility be understood and measured What can we learn from the politics of mobility and social movements within cities What is the role of automobility and auto dependence in differentiating groups both within cities and rural areas and among transnational migrants moving across international borders These are just some of the questions this book addresses This volume provides a holistic and reflexive account of the role played by automobility in producing reproducing and differentiating social economic and political life in the contemporary city as well as the role played by the city in producing and reproducing auto mobile inequalities The first section titled Driving Vulnerability deals with issues of global importance related to economic social financial and environmental sustainability and resilience and socialization The second section Driving Inequality is concerned with understanding the role played by automobility in producing urban socio spatial inequalities including those rooted in accessibility to work migration status and ethnic concentration and new measures of mobility based inequality derived from the concept of effective speed The third section titled Driving Politics explores the politics of mobility in particular places with an eye to demonstrating both the relevance of the politics of mobility for influencing and reinforcing actually existing neoliberalisms and the kinds of politics that might allow for reform or restructuring of the auto mobile city into one that is more socially politically and environmentally just In the conclusion to the book Walks draws on the findings of the other chapters to comment on the relationship between automobility neoliberalism and citizenship and to lay out strategies for dealing with the urban car system

Teacher Quality and Education Policy in India Preeti Kumar, Alexander W. Wiseman, 2021-03-31 By drawing on quantitative data and qualitative analyses of five major national education policies implemented in India over the last 15 years this comprehensive volume explores their impact on teacher quality and perceived effectiveness explaining how this relates to variations in student performance Responding to a national agenda to increase the quality of the Indian teacher workforce Teacher Quality and Education Policy in India critically questions the application of human capital theory to Indian education policy Chapters provide in depth and strategically structured analyses of five national policies including the recently approved National Education Policy NEP 2020 to see how Indian policymakers use teacher quality as a driver and measurement of education and national economic development Ultimately the text offers evidence based policy recommendations to improve teacher quality in India suggesting that while all five policies have contributed significant frameworks and recommendations for teacher quality reform they have failed to move beyond a symbolic function Given its rigorous methodological approach this book will be a valuable addition to the under researched question of education policymaking in postcolonial contexts It will be an indispensable resource not only for scholars working on policymaking in the Indian context but also for those working at the intersection of education teacher development and policymaking in developing countries

Between the World and the Urban Classroom George Sirrakos Jr., Christopher Emdin, 2017-05-12 Borrowing from the ideas of John Dewey schools and classrooms are a reflection of the world therefore in order to make sense of the urban classroom we need to make sense of the world In this book the editors have compiled a collection of nine critical essays or chapters each examining a particular contemporary national and or international event The essays each undertake an explicit approach to naming oppression and addressing it in the context of urban schooling Each essay has a two fold purpose The first purpose is to help readers see the world unveiled through a more critical lens and to problematize long held beliefs about urban classrooms with regard to race gender social class equity and access Second as each author draws parallels between an event and urban classrooms a better understanding of the microstructures that exist in urban classrooms emerges At a time of serious political economic and social uncertainty we need a book like this one that showcases how the world can be seen as a critical site of curriculum and pedagogy A powerful intersectional analysis of the world word and urban sociopolitical context authors in this book push the boundaries of what educators know and do in urban schools and classrooms Grounded in frameworks of critical race theory and culturally relevant pedagogy authors center essential societal moments that must be viewed as the real curriculum These moments can equip students with tools to examine the what of the world as well as how to examine critique challenge and disrupt individual systemic and structural realities and practices that perpetuate and maintain a racist sexist homophobic and xenophobic status quo This is an important forward thinking innovative book a welcome addition to the field of urban education H Richard Milner IV Helen Faison Chair of Urban Education University of Pittsburgh

Youth and the National Narrative Marie Lall, Tania Saeed, 2019-11-28 The role of the security establishment in Pakistan has been strengthened in a post Musharraf era as social institutions are increasingly drawn into the security agenda Pakistan s problems are often explained through the lens of ethnic or religious differences the tense relationship between democracy and the Pakistan military or geopolitics and terrorism without taking into account young citizens role in questioning the state and the role of the education system Based on new research and interviews with more than 1900 Pakistanis aged 16-28 the authors examine young people s understanding of citizenship political participation the state and terrorism in post Musharraf Pakistan The authors explore the relationship between the youth and the security state highlighting how the educational institutions social media political activism and the entire nature of the social contract in Pakistan has been increasingly securitized The focus is on the voices of young Pakistanis their views on state accountability or lack thereof political literacy and participation and the continued problem of terrorism that is transforming their views of both their country and the world today With 67% of the country s population under the age of 30 this book is a unique window into how Pakistan is likely to evolve in the next couple of decades
