An Endogenous Theory of Property Rights Peter Ho, 2018-10-15 From a neo liberal neo classical paradigm secure formal and private property rights are crucial to fostering sustained development Institutions that fail to respond to shifting socio economic opportunities are thus forced to make new arrangements The enigma is posed by developments on the ground Why would the removal of authoritarian institutions during the Arab Spring or Iraq War not increase market efficiency but rather cause the reverse while China and India despite persisting insecure informal and common institutions featured sustained growth This collection posits that understanding these paradoxes requires a refocusing from form to function detached from normative assumptions about institutional appearance In so doing three things are accomplished First starting from case studies on land it is ascertained that the argument can be meaningfully extended to labour capital and beyond Second the argument validates the Credibility Thesis that is once institutions persist they fulfil a function Third the collection studies development broadly construed by including the modes of production and beyond the rural and urban the developed and developing This is why it reviews property rights from China and India to Turkey Mexico and Malaysia covering issues such as customary rights and privatization mining and pastoralism dam building and irrigation but also state owned banks trade unions and notaries This book was originally published as a special issue of The Journal of Peasant Studies

Chasing Archipelagic Dreams David R. Saunders, 2024-12-15 In Chasing Archipelagic Dreams David R Saunders demonstrates that the withdrawal of the British imperial state from Sabah did not result in the decolonization of the territory From the late 1940s to the 1960s international anti colonialism interacted with regional competition over Sabah to result in a paradoxical increase of British power and influence on the ground Meanwhile ethnic social and political heterogeneity in Sabah contributed to fragmentation and disunity undermining the development of a local anti colonial movement Instead a class of influential local elites seized power as competing attempts by the Philippines Indonesia and Malaya to incorporate the territory into their respective archipelagic spheres grew in strength Due to these local and international rivalries Saunders argues Sabah's eventual merger with the Federation of Malaysia in 1963 prompted an extension of colonial style rule resource extraction the suppression of local autonomy and the imposition of an externally configured national identity Chasing Archipelagic Dreams underscores the significance of regional rivalries in the South China Sea and highlights the fate of subaltern communities bisected by post colonial borders
