On the Gender Performance Gap in Economics Education Jens K. Perret, 2022-11-30 Broad ranges of studies have discussed the difference in performance between men and women in relation to their economics education The German perspective with its particular tertiary education system and decade long history of gender equality movements however remain under researched By implementing two data sets a German public university and a German private university of applied sciences this study aims to provide to the existing literature in this regard The datasets have been used to test in a nationwide sample potential gender differences in the outcome of exams in basic economics By consisting of a total of more than 9 000 observations over nine years or 18 semesters and seven locations across Germany the study constructs a comprehensive view of the German academic landscape The results as well as robustness checks show that gender effects are marginal at best Additionally it has been shown that no significant differences exist across the different forms of universities The results of this broadband sample lead to the conjecture that in Germany independent of the type of university over the last decades gender equality in economics education has been consolidated and any observed effects are due to external factors alone The Routledge Handbook of the Economics of Education Brian P. McCall, 2021-12-30 The economics of education is a burgeoning area of study employing increasingly sophisticated analytical tools to answer questions with high societal impact Thus the aim of this handbook is to provide readers with an up to date overview of the current state of the field of the economics of education and its main areas of research This comprehensive handbook provides an authoritative overview of key theoretical and policy areas covering topics like econometric methods for education economics returns to education competition in education provision education and economic growth and education and inequality It reviews the current state of research from early childhood through postgraduate education as well as adult education and life long learning Offering a truly international perspective the handbook benefits from a global group of contributors and attention to both developed and developing country contexts The Routledge Handbook of the Economics of Education will be a valuable resource for advanced students researchers and policymakers across economics education and public policy accountability and datafication including controversies and critical issues With carefully chosen international contributions from around the globe the World Yearbook of Education 2021 is ideal reading for anyone interested in the future of accountability and datafication in the governance of education The Effect of Education System and School Characteristics on the Gender Gap in Competencies Laura Zapfe, 2023-11-30 Laura Zapfe's aim is to explain how education system and school characteristics affect the gender gap in mathematics and reading competencies She adapts the macro meso micro model At the micro level she uses theories e.g. gender specific socialization highlighting how gender specific expectations and stereotypes cause gendered interest and skills and therefore gender differences in mathematics and reading Deriving a macro meso micro link she explains how education system characteristics such as competition differentiation and standardization and school characteristics could increase or decrease the gender specific socialization effects leading to larger or smaller gender gaps in mathematics and reading competencies On this basis she performs a cross national comparison of 78 countries participating in the Programme for International Student Assessment PISA 2018 combined with further researched macro data with three level mixed effects models The results show that boys have an advantage in mathematics girls have an advantage in reading the gender effects are slightly higher for reading and the gender effects at the school level are more pronounced than those at the country level Productivity in Higher Education Caroline M. Hoxby, Kevin Stange, 2020-01-10 How do the benefits of higher education compare with its costs and how does this comparison vary across individuals and institutions These questions are fundamental to quantifying the productivity of the education sector The studies in Productivity in Higher Education use rich and novel administrative data modern econometric methods and careful institutional analysis to explore productivity issues The authors examine the returns to undergraduate education differences in costs by major the productivity of for profit schools the productivity of various types of faculty and of outcomes the effects of online education on the higher education market and the ways in which the productivity of different institutions responds to market forces The analyses recognize five key challenges to assessing productivity in higher education the potential for multiple student outcomes in terms of skills earnings invention and employment the fact that colleges and universities are multiproduct firms that conduct varied activities across many domains the fact that students select which school to attend based in part on their aptitude the difficulty of attributing outcomes to individual institutions when students attend more than one and the possibility that some of the benefits of higher education may arise from the system as a whole rather than from a single institution The findings and the approaches illustrated can facilitate decision making processes in higher education The Case against Education Bryan Caplan, 2019-08-20 Why we need to stop wasting public funds on education Despite being immensely popular and immensely lucrative education is grossly overrated Now with a new afterword by Bryan Caplan this explosive book argues that the primary function of education is not to enhance students skills but to signal the qualities of a good employee Learn why students hunt for easy As only to forget most of what they learn after the final exam why decades of growing access to education have not resulted in better jobs for average workers how employers reward workers for costly schooling they rarely ever use and why cutting education spending is the best remedy Romantic notions about education being good for the soul must yield to careful research and common sense The Case against Education points the way OECD Economic Surveys: France 2017 OECD,2017-09-14 GDP is set to grow fairly strongly in 2017 18 supported by private consumption and investment The labour market has started to improve However productivity gains are too low to sustain social protection high quality public services and rising incomes in the long run The Distributional Impact of Taxes and Transfers Gabriela Inchauste,Nora Lustig,2017-09-19 The World Bank has partnered with the Commitment to Equity Institute at Tulane University to implement their diagnostic tool the Commitment to Equity CEQ Assessment designed to assess how taxation and public expenditures affect income inequality poverty and different economic groups The approach relies on comprehensive fiscal incidence analysis which measures the contribution of each individual intervention to poverty and inequality reduction as well as the combined impact of taxes and social spending The CEQ Assessment provide an evidence base upon which alternative reform options can be analyzed The use of a common methodology makes the results comparable across countries This volume presents eight country studies that examine the distributional effects of individual programs and policy measures and the net effect of each country s mix of policies and programs These case studies were produced in the context of Bank policy dialogue and have since been used to propose alternative reform options Burnt by Democracy Jacqueline Kennelly,2023-11-30 Burnt by Democracy traces the political ascendance of neoliberalism and its effects on youth The book explores democracy and citizenship as described in interviews with over forty young people ages 16 to 30 who have either experienced homelessness or identify as an activist living in five liberal democracies Canada Australia New Zealand the United States and the United Kingdom Highlighting significant cuts to social and affordable housing astronomical increases in the costs of higher education and the transformation and erosion of state benefits systems Jacqueline Kennelly argues that democracy s decline is not occurring because young people are apathetic or focused on informal politics or unaware of their civic duties Rather it is because of collective misunderstanding about how democracy is actually structured how individuals learn to participate and how growing wealth inequality has undermined the capacity of those at the bottom to meaningfully advocate for changes that might improve their conditions Against a vivid and often heart breaking backdrop of stories from young people struggling to survive and thrive under conditions of ever expanding state retrenchment and inequality Burnt by Democracy makes a timely and impassioned plea for protecting and strengthening democracy by truly levelling the playing field for all Value for Money in School Education Smart Investments, Quality Outcomes, Equal Opportunities OECD,2022-11-29 Policymaking has always been a matter of making choices managing trade offs and balancing multiple goals and priorities to make complex budgetary decisions Yet the past few years have seen a rising number of priorities facing policymakers hence mounting pressure to enhance the efficiency of public spending Non-State Actors in Education in the Global South Prachi Srivastava, Geoffrey Walford, 2019-10-23 Fuelled by social equity concerns there have been vigorous debates on the appropriateness of certain non state actors particularly those with commercial and entrepreneurial motives to meet universal education goals There are further questions on the relative effectiveness of government and private schooling in delivering good learning outcomes for all Within this debate several empirical questions abound Do students from poorer backgrounds achieve as well in private schools as their advantaged peers What are the relative out of pocket costs of accessing private schooling compared to government schooling Is fee paying non state provision affordable to the poorest households What is the nature of the education market at different levels What are the relationships between different non state actors and the state and how should they conduct themselves The chapters in this volume present new empirical evidence and conduct critical analysis on some of these questions This book was originally published as a special issue of the Oxford Review of Education
