

Model 2 – Random Sampling Method

- a. According to Model 2, what is the probability of selecting a red die in a random draw out of the bag?

The probability of selecting a red die in a random draw out of the bag is 50% (0.5).

- b. Suppose you draw a die from the bag seven times in a row, and each time you draw a red die. How does this pattern affect the probability of selecting a red die in a subsequent draw (single draw)?

The probability of selecting a red die is determined by using replacement each time, so the probability of selecting a red die is 50% each time. If you draw a red die seven times in a row, the probability of selecting a red die is still 50% each time. If you draw a blue die seven times in a row, the probability of selecting a red die is still 50% each time.
