Paris Concealed James H. Johnson, 2025-01-22 A comprehensive history of masks in France from the seventeenth to the nineteenth century Masks can conceal disguise or protect They can guard status inspire delight or spread fear They can also betray trust through insincerity deceit and hypocrisy In Paris Concealed historian James H Johnson offers a sweeping history of masks both visible and unseen from the time of Louis XIV to the late nineteenth century exploring the complex roles that masking and unmasking have played in the fashioning of our social selves Drawing from memoirs novels plays and paintings Paris Concealed explores the many domains in which masks have been decisive Beginning in the court of Versailles Johnson charts the genesis of courtly politesse and its widespread condemnation by Enlightenment philosophers and political thinkers He describes strategies deployed in the era of the French Revolution for unmasking traitors and later efforts to penetrate criminal disguises through telltale marks on the body He portrays the disruptive power of masks in public balls and carnivals and with the coming of modernity evokes their unsettling presence within the unconscious Compellingly written and beautifully illustrated Paris Concealed lays bare the mask's transformations from marking one's position in a static society to inspiring imagined identities in meritocracies to impeding the elusive search for one's true self To tell the history of masks Johnson shows is to tell the history of modern selfhood

The Pursuit of Laziness Pierre Saint-Amand, 2011-05-09 We think of the Enlightenment as an era dominated by ideas of progress production and industry not an era that favored the lax and indolent individual But was the Enlightenment only about the unceasing improvement of self and society The Pursuit of Laziness examines moral political and economic treatises of the period and reveals that crucial eighteenth century texts did find value in idleness and nonproductivity Fleshing out Enlightenment thinking in the works of Denis Diderot Joseph Joubert Pierre de Marivaux Jean Jacques Rousseau and Jean Sim on Chardin this book explores idleness in all its guises and illustrates that laziness existed not as a vice of the wretched but as an exemplar of modernity and a resistance to beliefs about virtue and utility Whether in the dawdlings of Marivaux's journalist who delayed and procrastinated or in the subjects of Chardin's paintings who delighted in suspended playful time Pierre Saint Amand shows how eighteenth century works provided a strong argument for laziness Rousseau abandoned his previous defense of labor to pursue reverie and botanical walks Diderot emphasized a parasitic strategy of resisting work in order to liberate time and Joubert's little known posthumous Notebooks radically opposed the central philosophy of the Enlightenment in a quest to infinitely postpone work Unsettling the stubborn view of the eighteenth century as an age of frenetic industriousness and labor The Pursuit of Laziness plumbs the texts and images of the time and uncovers deliberate yearnings for slowness and recreation Some images inside the book are unavailable due to digital copyright restrictions Thèmes et figures du siècle des lumières

Raymond Trousson, 1980 The Histrionic Sensibility Ziad Elmarsafy, 2001 The Flesh in the Text Thomas

Baldwin, James E. Fowler, Shane Weller, 2007 The impetus behind this collection of essays was a curiosity shared by the editors concerning the relation between the flesh and the text in French and francophone literature This subject is explored here in readings of works by among others Rabelais Diderot Sade Proust Beckett Djébar Nothomb Delvig and Nob court

Gender and Voice in the French Novel, 1730-1782 Aurora Wolfgang, 2017-03-02 Analyzing four best selling novels by both women and men written in the feminine voice this book traces how the creation of women centered salons and the emergence of a feminine poetic style engendered a new type of literature in eighteenth century France The author argues that writing in a female voice allowed writers of both sexes to break with classical notions of literature and style so that they could create a modern sensibility that appealed to a larger reading public and gave them scope to innovate with style and form Wolfgang brings to light how the female voice in literature came to embody the language of sociability but also allowed writers to explore the domain of inter subjectivity while creating new bonds between writers and the reading public Through examination of Marivaux's La Vie de Marianne Graffigny's Lettres d'une Péruvienne Riccoboni's Lettres de Mistriss Fanni Butlerd and Laclos's Les Liaisons dangereuses she shows that in France this modern feminine sensibility turned the least prestigious of literary genres the novel into the most compelling and innovative literary form of the eighteenth century Emphasizing how the narratives analyzed here refashioned the French literary world through their linguistic innovation and expression of new forms of subjectivity this study claims an important role for feminine voice narratives in shaping the field of eighteenth century literature

Authors and Philosophers Brill Academic Pub, 1979 Sensibility, Reading and Illustration Ann Lewis, 2017-12-02 Eighteenth century sensibility has always been controversial In fact the term itself refers to complex forms of physical and emotional responsiveness and Lewis's study investigates the fictional exploration of various key problems of sentimental response that were at the heart of eighteenth century moral epistemological and aesthetic debates These are analysed in conjunction with some of the actual often emotional responses that the term its fictions and images have provoked through time including an indispensable survey of the varying construction of sensibility as an object of study and the polemics subtending its definition The verbal evocation of the visual in the form of spectacles and signs was understood in the eighteenth century as having an especially powerful impact Lewis provides a new reading of the theme of sensibility by analysing the textual images in three best selling novels from the mid century Graffigny's Lettres d'une Péruvienne Marivaux's La Vie de Marianne and Rousseau's Julie The examination of a largely neglected corpus of illustrations understood as readings of each text provides striking new evidence of the complexity thematic richness and duplicity of these spectacles whose power to provoke different reactions is perhaps their most interesting characteristic

The Surprising Effects of Sympathy David Marshall, 1988 Through readings of works by Marivaux Diderot Rousseau and Mary Shelley David Marshall provides a new interpretation of the eighteenth century preoccupation with theatricality and sympathy Sympathy is seen not as an instance of sensibility or natural benevolence but rather as an aesthetic and epistemological problem that must be understood in relation to the problem of theatricality Placing novels in the context of eighteenth century writing about theater fiction and painting Marshall argues that an unusual variety of authors and texts were concerned with the possibility of entering into someone else's thoughts and feelings. He shows how key eighteenth century works reflect on the problem of how to move touch and secure the sympathy of readers and beholders in the realm of both art and life. Marshall discusses the demands placed upon novels to achieve certain effects, the ambivalence of writers and readers about those effects, and the ways in which these texts can be read as philosophical meditations on the differences and analogies between the experiences of reading a novel, watching a play, beholding a painting, and witnessing the spectacle of someone suffering. The Surprising Effects of Sympathy traces the interaction of sympathy and theater and the artistic and philosophical problems that these terms represent in dialogues about aesthetics, moral philosophy, epistemology, psychology, autobiography, the novel, and society.

Politeness and Its Discontents Peter France, 1992-01-09 This is a 1992 study of writing of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, mainly in France but also in Britain and Russia. Its focus is on the establishing and questioning of rational, civilized norms of politeness, which in the ancien régime meant not just polite manners but a certain ideal of society and culture.

Writing and constructing the self in Great Britain in the long eighteenth century John Baker, Marion Leclair, Allan Ingram, 2018-11-17 This volume explores the notion of the self as it was elaborated and expressed by philosophers, novelists, churchmen, poets, and diarists in the Enlightenment. The questions raised by the twelve essays and the introduction explore the unity, diversity, and fragility of a recognisably modern self.

Reading Undercover Anne L. Birberick, 1998-12 This study examines author-audience relations in the works of the seventeenth century French poet Jean de La Fontaine. Focusing on the Fables Les Amours de Psyche et de Cupidon and the Contes, Anne L. Birberick explores how La Fontaine remains a largely subversive artist even while he seeks to establish himself within a conventional system of literary patronage. Birberick offers an anatomy of readers as she shows how La Fontaine simultaneously appeals to multiple readers whose tastes range from the literal to the ironic, from the orthodox to the heterodox. To negotiate successfully between and among such diverse audiences, the poet employs techniques of concealment and disclosure to foster an anticanonical public.

The King's Crown Basil Guy, 2005 Basil Guy is Professor Emeritus of French, University of California, Berkeley. A decorated World War II veteran, he is the author of several books and editions, including an outstanding translation of Charles Joseph de Ligne, Coup d'oeil sur Beloeil. University of California Press, 1986. His work reflects a wide variety of academic interests, ranging from Voltaire and Rousseau to art history and the literature of gardens to European perceptions of China in the 18th century. He has directed and participated in directing numerous theses and dissertations in French history and art history at the University of California, Berkeley. He has forged enduring academic and intellectual friendships across both the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans. His former students teach at universities across the United States.

The Mirror Sabine Melchior-Bonnet, 2014-06-03 This engaging and witty cultural history traces the evolution of the mirror from antiquity to the present day, illustrating its journey from wondrous object to ordinary trinket.

With its earliest invention the mirror allowed us to gaze upon ourselves bestowing a power both fascinating and terrifying

The Culture of Clothing Daniel Roche,1996-10-10 Newly available in paperback this major contribution to cultural history is a study of dress in France in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Daniel Roche discusses general approaches to the history of dress locates the subject within current French historiography and uses a large sample of inventories to explore the differences between the various social classes in the amount they spent and the kind of clothes they wore His essential argument is that there was a vestimentary revolution in the later eighteenth century as all sections of the population became caught up in the world of fashion and fast moving consumption Pastiche, Fashion, and Galanterie in Chardin's Genre Subjects Paula Radisich,2013-12-12 This book analyzes the genre subjects created by Jean Sim on Chardin in the 1730s and 1740s as exemplars of a period specific aesthetic known as the go t moderne or Modern taste a category shaped by the literary Quarrel of the Ancients versus the Moderns Book Catalogue ,1844 Styles of Enlightenment Elena Russo,2007-01-19 Styles of Enlightenment argues that alongside its democratic ideals and its efforts to create a unified public sphere the Enlightenment also displayed a tendency to erect rigid barriers when it came to matters of style and artistic expression The French philosophes tackled the issue of the hierarchy of genres with surprising inflexibility and they looked down on those forms of art that they saw as commercial popular and merely entertaining They were convinced that the standard of taste was too important a matter to be left to the whims of the public and the vagaries of the marketplace aesthetic judgment ought to belong to a few enlightened minds who would then pass it on to the masses Through readings of fictions essays memoirs eulogies and theatrical works by F nelon Bouhours Marivaux Montesquieu Voltaire Diderot Rousseau Mercier Thomas and others Styles of Enlightenment traces the stages of a confrontation between the virile philosophe and the effeminate worldly writer good and bad taste high art and frivolous entertainment state patronage and the privately sponsored marketplace the academic eulogy and worldly conversation It teases out the finer points of division on the public battlefields of literature and politics and the new world of contesting sexual economies [Catalog of Copyright Entries. Copyright Office,1973 A Perverse History of the Human Heart Milad Doueihi,1997 The heart has a history as long and complex and often as sordid as that of the secret life it once signified This is the fascinating history that Milad Doueihi tells in a book that follows the adventures of the human heart from the myth of Dionysos to works of Dante Boccaccio and Francis Bacon from the Eucharist to the emergence of medicine from antiquity to early modern times
