Muscle Recovery After Exercise, Training and Competition: Physiological Indicators and Non-invasive Monitoring Techniques Alessandro Moura Zagatto, Fábio Yuzo Nakamura, Michael R. Esco, 2020-05-21
The desire to improve muscle function and prevent overuse injuries from exercise and throughout training has led to the development of various methods to aid recovery and track readiness to perform Ergogenic aids such as cold water immersion massage and dynamic recovery procedures may have positive effects but the results of the related research remain equivocal Furthermore novel interventions in this scenario like compression garments ice vests and photobiomodulation therapy are promising but need more evidence based data to support their effectiveness Similarly to properly monitor individual physical conditioning there is a growing interest toward unobtrusive measures to accurately represent physiological status during and or after exercise There are several techniques being used such as subjective ratings of well being heart rate monitoring hormonal and hematological profile assessments However more sensitive indexes like heart rate variability and muscle activation voluntary and or involuntary are arising as attractive alternatives that may delineate physical conditioning status and readiness to perform more precisely than the aforementioned measures The purpose of this Research Topic is to critically evaluate and summarize recent data from observational and intervention studies related to non invasive methods designed to promote recovery and objectively monitor training status Their association to physical performance and physiological recovery in athletes during training and competition is a major focus of this Topic

Bulgaria International Monetary Fund. Monetary and Capital Markets Department, 2017-05-24
Bulgaria's financial stability was shaken in 2014 by the collapse of the system's fourth largest bank due to fraud and insider abuse The failure raised questions about the viability of other banks which subsequently experienced deposit outflows and raised concerns about the supervision by the Bulgarian National Bank BNB To restore credibility the authorities in addition to requesting this Financial Sector Assessment FSAP conducted an asset quality review AQR for banks and nonbanks and initiated reforms to BNB supervision and introduced a new bank resolution function Following the 2014 bank collapse the financial system stabilized reflecting the significant capital and liquidity buffers and the presence of large foreign owned institutions Nevertheless risks remain including for some banks that showed weakness in the authorities AQR and stress test and for the system because of high nonperforming loans NPLs The Currency Board Arrangement CBA has contributed to stability though it constrains the BNB s ability to provide lender of last resort liquidity in times of financial stress
