

MARK SCHEME for the May/June 2013 series

0460 GEOGRAPHY

0460/22

Paper 2, maximum raw mark 60

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2013 series for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level components and some Ordinary Level components.

Universities and Innovation Economies Peter Murphy,2016-02-24 Students drop out of universities in large numbers many graduate to jobs that do not require a degree and a large number learn little at university whilst graduate salaries have shrunk over time and student loan debt and default have grown University research achievements have declined while university administration has expanded massively The contemporary university is mired in auditing regulation waste and aimlessness and its contribution to serious social innovation has deteriorated markedly The miserable state of the universities reflects a larger social reality as bureaucratic capitalism has replaced creative capitalism Universities and Innovation Economies examines the rise and fall of the mass university and post industrial society considering how we might revitalize economic and intellectual creativity Looking to a much more inventive social and economic paradigm to drive long term growth the author argues for a smaller leaner more effective university model one capable of delivering a greater degree of high level discovery and creative power A potent critique of the post industrial mass university that urges a reimagination of universities as places of discovery and invention this book will appeal to readers interested in higher education creativity social theory the sociology of work and organisations political economy pedagogy and public policy

As the old saying goes There is a sucker born every minute and there has always been a keen eyed swindler to take advantage of the situation The Big Con Great Hoaxes Frauds Gifts and Swindles in American History explores this sordid underbelly of American civilization and invites readers to revel in the felonious experience Free Speech after 9/11 Katharine Gelber,2016-04-14 Although there has been a lot written about how counter terrorism laws impact on human rights and civil liberties most of this work has focussed on the most obvious or egregious kinds of human rights abrogation such as extended detention torture and extraordinary rendition Far less has been written about the complex ways in which Western governments have placed new and far reaching limitations on freedom of speech in this context since 9 11 This book compares three liberal democracies the United States the United Kingdom and Australia in particular showing the commonalities and similarities in what has occurred in each country and the changes in the appropriate parameters of freedom of speech in the counter terrorism context since 9 11 achieved both in policy change and the justification for that change In all three countries much speech has been criminalized in ways that were considered anachronistic or inappropriate in comparable policy areas prior to 9 11 This is particularly interesting because other works have suggested that the United States unique protection of freedom of speech in the First Amendment has prevented speech being limited in that country in ways that have been pursued in others This book shows that this kind of argument misses the detail of the policy change that has occurred and privileges a textual reading over a more comprehensive policy based understanding of the changes that have occurred The author argues that we are now living a new normal for freedom of speech within which restrictions on speech that once would have been considered aberrant overreaching and impermissible are now considered ordinary necessary and justified as long as they occur in the counter terrorism context This change is persistent and it has far reaching implications for the future of this foundational freedom Environmental and Sustainability Education (ESE) in the English-Speaking Caribbean Therese Ferguson,Sharon Bramwell-Lalor,2024-12-09 This book offers readers a diversity of perspectives experiences and practical examples from various facets of Environmental and Sustainability Education ESE that can propel practice further research and inform decision making in the region thus making for more cogent and effective ESE The Caribbean region is comprised of what is said to be the largest number of Small Island Developing States SIDS together with the non island nations of Belize Guyana and Suriname Although diverse with respect to governance size topography and income the Caribbean region has a common set of geographic and socio economic characteristics that make it vulnerable to environmental hazards economic challenges and social instability Further to these particular vulnerabilities are various phenomena that pose critical sustainability challenges two of which are climate change and crime and violence Consequently responsive and relevant ESE is needed to address these issues through knowledge enhancement attitudinal change skills development and behaviour change As we seek solutions this text brings together various empirical and theoretical contributions focused primarily on the English speaking Caribbean region that explore a number of areas such as prescriptions about the painful but necessary decisions that colleges need to make to ensure they remain viable accessible and affordable and deliver a high quality education Sandra Featherman considers higher education to be at a game changing moment When markets don t function well as is the case with today s college marketplace with offerings that cost too much and return too little it opens the door to new types of suppliers who offer new ways of providing what students are looking for particularly the increasing cohort of mature working students In the face of new competitors for profit education companies technology start ups and foreign universities vying for international students trustees and senior level administrators are generally stuck in a traditional ethos and with decision making processes unsuited to these times They know what used to work and find it easier to follow old ways than to make the difficult transition to new ways of delivering education She lays out a strategy that emphasizes the centrality of students and how to provide them with the most effective learning environment that is clear eyed about focusing on the core missions and abandoning practices that constrain or impede them and that requires constant self monitoring to learn from and act upon what works She offers a blueprint for redesigning institutions for paring away what is unnecessary and cost ineffective and for adopting the best technologies all in the service of developing meaningful degree programs at an affordable price and widening access for under represented groups She ranges over the implications of budget decisions accreditation and MOOCs addresses government regulation and tuition costs presents promising new models and concludes with 11 key recommendations that should be heeded by all higher education administrators and trustees
