Murray Roberts, Ellen Kenchington, Telmo Morato, Albertus J. Smit, Jose Angel Alvarez Perez, Stefán Áki Ragnarsson, 2025-05-07 This is the second issue of the Research Topic Managing Deep sea and Open Ocean Ecosystems at Ocean Basin Scale The original article collection can be found here Managing Deep sea Ecosystems at Ocean Basin Scale Volume 1 Drawing upon work by the ATLAS 2016 20 and iAtlantic 2019 23 projects this second volume Research Topic explores recent findings and themes emerging as the marine research and management communities embrace assessments of ecosystem time series connectivity biogeography and function at ocean basin scale Research and policy development at this scale has been driven by the realization that multiple interacting stressors created by climate change and anthropogenic impacts are rapidly altering marine ecosystems at the same time as governments seek to promote increased economic output from the marine environment This broad context sets the considerable challenge and opportunity for marine science industry management and policy to shape the frameworks through which this sustainable economic Blue Growth can be achieved Studies built upon new discoveries from poorly understood deep ocean ecosystems e g coral sponge vent chemosynthetic fauna are highlighting the opportunities for the scientific community to create a new evidence base for long term management For example advances in deep sea exploration technology oceanographic data availability modeling resolution and a better understanding of larval biology and dispersal are fostering more interdisciplinary partnerships between physicists and biologists to model ecosystem connectivity These connectivity analyses can now be ground truthed by population genetic approaches built on datasets developed from next generation sequencing technologies e g RADseq RADTag 2bRAD fostering new understanding of marine ecosystem connectivity      Achieving Nutritional Security and Food Safety Through Genomics-Based Breeding of Crops Reyazul Rouf Mir, Sachiko Narita Isobe, Manish Kumar Pandey, Ajay Kumar, 2021-03-22      Seasonal to Decadal Prediction of Marine Ecosystems: Opportunities, Approaches, and Applications Mark R. Payne, Alistair J. Hobday, Brian R. MacKenzie, Desiree Tommasi, 2019-06-28 Tremendous advances in oceanographic observing and modeling systems over the last decade have led to unprecedented developments in the nature of information available to marine science While improvements in observational technologies and networks have garnered much attention remarkable developments in forecasting the ocean have received much less focus Exploiting this new predictive skill to improve scientific understanding generate advice and aid in the management of marine resources is emerging as one of the new challenges of marine science Translating predictions of the physical environment into biological outcomes however is not straightforward Fisheries scientists for example have been trying to understand the links between physics and biology and generate predictions of variables such as recruitment for close to a century with limited success Nevertheless spatial distributions and the timing of key events which have received less focus are often tightly linked to the physical environment and may have management relevant applications

The first such forecasts based on this skill are now starting to emerge This Frontiers in Marine Science Research Topic provides a snapshot of the state of the art in Marine Ecological Prediction It covers the opportunities for developing such forecasts technical approaches that could be employed and examples where the technology is already being applied This body of work therefore marks an important milestone on the route to developing this new and exciting field of marine science
