Memorandum Paperlife Sciences:

Global Transformations in the Life Sciences, 1945–1980 Patrick Manning, Mat Savelli, 2018-06-07 The second half of the twentieth century brought extraordinary transformations in knowledge and practice of the life sciences In an era of decolonization mass social welfare policies and the formation of new international institutions such as UNESCO and the WHO monumental advances were made in both theoretical and practical applications of the life sciences including the discovery of life's molecular processes and substantive improvements in global public health and medicine Combining perspectives from the history of science and world history this volume examines the impact of major world historical processes of the postwar period on the evolution of the life sciences Contributors consider the long term evolution of scientific practice research and innovation across a range of fields and subfields in the life sciences and in the context of Cold War anxieties and ambitions Together they examine how the formation of international organizations and global research programs allowed for transnational exchange and cooperation but in a period rife with competition and nationalist interests which influenced dramatic changes in the field as the postcolonial world order unfolded Exploring the Living Universe United States. National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Life Sciences Strategic Planning Study Committee, 1988

Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications , 1999 Monthly Catalogue, United States Public Documents , 1995 Poison Powder Gregory S. Wilson, 2023-04-01 In 1975 workers at Life Science Products a small makeshift pesticide factory in Hopewell Virginia became ill after exposure to Kepone the brand name for the pesticide chlordecone They made the poison under contract for a much larger Hopewell company Allied Chemical Life Science workers had been breathing in the dust for more than a year Ingestion of the chemical made their bodies seize and shake News of ill workers eventually led to the discovery of widespread environmental contamination of the nearby James River and the landscape of the small working class city Not only had Life Science dumped the chemical but so had Allied when the company manufactured it in the 1960s and early 1970s The resulting toxic impact was not only on the city of Hopewell but also on the faraway fields where Kepone was used as an insecticide Aspects of this environmental tragedy are all too common corporate avarice ignorance and regulatory failure combined with race and geography to determine toxicity and shape the response But the Kepone story also contains some surprising medical legal and political moments amid the disaster With Poison Powder Gregory S Wilson explores the conditions that put the Kepone factory and the workers there in the first place and the effects of the poison on the people and natural world long after 1975 Although the manufacture and use of Kepone is now banned by the Environmental Protection Agency organochlorines have long half lives and these toxic compounds and their residues still remain in the environment The Life, Science and Times of Lev Vasilevich Shubnikov L. J. Reinders, 2018-02-27 This book describes the life times and science of the Soviet physicist Lev Vasilevich Shubnikov 1901 1937 From 1926 to 1930 Shubnikov worked in Leiden where he was the co discoverer of the Shubnikov De Haas effect After his return to the Soviet Union he founded in Kharkov in Ukraine the first low temperature laboratory in the Soviet Union which in a very short time became the foremost physics institute in the country and among other things led to the discovery of type II superconductivity In August 1937 Shubnikov together with many of his colleagues was arrested and shot early in November 1937 This gripping story gives deep insights into the pioneering work of Soviet physicists before the Second World War as well as providing much previously unpublished information about their brutal treatment at the hands of the Stalinist regime Resources in education ,1991 On the Shoulders of Titans Barton C. Hacker,James M. Grimwood,1977

Science and Judgment in Risk Assessment National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology,Commission on Life Sciences,Committee on Risk Assessment of Hazardous Air Pollutants,1994-01-01 The public depends on competent risk assessment from the federal government and the scientific community to grapple with the threat of pollution When risk reports turn out to be overblown or when risks are overlooked public skepticism abounds This comprehensive and readable book explores how the U S Environmental Protection Agency EPA can improve its risk assessment practices with a focus on implementation of the 1990 Clean Air Act Amendments With a wealth of detailed information pertinent examples and revealing analysis the volume explores the default option and other basic concepts It offers two views of EPA operations The first examines how EPA currently assesses exposure to hazardous air pollutants evaluates the toxicity of a substance and characterizes the risk to the public The second more holistic view explores how EPA can improve in several critical areas of risk assessment by focusing on cross cutting themes and incorporating more scientific judgment This comprehensive volume will be important to the EPA and other agencies risk managers environmental advocates scientists faculty students and concerned individuals This New Ocean Loyd S. Swenson,James M. Grimwood,Charles C. Alexander,1966 Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office ,2004

Life in Space Maura Phillips Mackowski,2022-05-24 This book explores the many aspects and outcomes of NASA s research in life sciences a little understood endeavor that has often been overlooked in histories of the space agency

Current Serials Received British Library. Lending Division,1983 Women and museums 1850-1914 Kate Hill,2016-07-01 This book recovers the significant contribution made by women to museums not just in obvious roles such as workers but also as donors visitors volunteers and patrons It suggests that women persistently acted to domesticate the museum by importing domestic objects and domestic regimes of value as well as by making museums more welcoming to children and even by stressing the importance of housekeeping at the museum At the same time women sought masculine careers in science and curatorship but found such aspirations hard to achieve their contribution tended to be kept within clear feminised areas The book will be of interest to those working on gender culture or museums in the period It sheds new light on women s material culture and material strategies education and professional careers and leisure practices It will form an important historical context for those working in contemporary museum studies Pathogens for War Donald H.

Avery, 2013-04-28 Pathogens for War explores how Canada and its allies have attempted to deal with the threat of germ warfare one of the most fearful weapons of mass destruction since the Second World War In addressing this subject distinguished historian Donald Avery investigates the relationship between bioweapons poison gas and nuclear devices as well as the connection between bioattacks and natural disease pandemics Avery emphasizes the crucially important activities of Canadian biodefence scientists beginning with Nobel Laureate Frederick Banting at both the national level and through cooperative projects within the framework of an elaborate alliance system Delving into history through a rich collection of declassified documents Pathogens for War also devotes several chapters to the contemporary challenges of bioterrorism and disease pandemics from both national and international perspectives As such readers will not only learn about Canada's secret involvement with biological warfare but will also gain new insights into current debates about the peril of bioweapons one of today's greatest threats to world peace

Scientific and Technical Advice for the U.S. Congress United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science, 2006

Nutrition Labeling Institute of Medicine, Committee on the Nutrition Components of Food Labeling, 1990-02-01 Nutrition Labeling offers a thorough examination of current nutrition labeling practices and recommends ways to make food labeling information consistent with recent dietary recommendations from the U S Surgeon General and the National Research Council The volume proposes implementing a food labeling reform program addressing such key issues as requiring mandatory nutrition labeling on most packaged foods expanding nutrition labeling to foods that do not currently provide this information making federal requirements uniform between agencies and updating the nutrient content and format of food labels
