

Of Mice and Men:

A recurring question on this novella is the theme of loneliness; consider the following points

1. In Of Mice and Men, Steinbeck uses the ranch as a microcosm of 1930s Depression era America in order to explore the challenges faced by itinerant workers. His focus on work and its importance in a time of hardship allows him to present the consequences and effects of life as a labourer. The most significant effect is loneliness. Through his use of characterisation and setting, Steinbeck makes clear this prevalent loneliness, the experience of which makes characters cruel, very self-centred and desperate for the company of others. He voices his opinion on the effects of loneliness through a dialogue between George and Slim. George says "I seen the guys that go around on the ranches alone.....After a long time they get mean" and Slim says "Yeah, they get mean".

(In John Steinbeck's novel 'Of Mice and Men', the death of Candy's dog symbolises the loneliness of the ranch workers, and demonstrates that there is no place for affection or sentimentality in their lives. Early on in the novel, George states that men who work on ranches are the 'loneliest guys in the world'. The transitive nature of the work means that it is difficult to form lasting relationships, and there is no room for sentimentality in the world they live in. This harsh reality is demonstrated by the death of Candy's dog, who is too old to be useful. Carlson, says 'He ain't no good to you... why n't you shoot him Candy?', demonstrating that the only reason the workers can comprehend for Candy keeping the dog is its usefulness. There is no provision made for the possibility that Candy's affection for the dog is enough reason to keep it.)

2. Steinbeck uses the character of Crooks to explore the loneliness experienced by victims of prejudice. "Crooks had reduced himself to nothing. There was no personality, no ego - nothing to arouse either like or dislike"; Steinbeck uses the repetition of the negative to reflect how prejudicial attitudes have stripped Crooks of any sense of self-worth.
3. The companionship of George and Lennie is presented as the antithesis of the loneliness experienced by archetypal itinerant workers. Develop this point however by talking about the co-dependency of George and Lennie. George needs Lennie as much as Lennie needs George as the companionship alleviates George's loneliness. Steinbeck is showing that there may be a degree of selfishness that can be attributed to George and that his motives for looking after Lennie are not purely selfless.
4. Steinbeck's characterisation of Curley's Wife as a lonely woman, starved of affection, reflects social attitudes towards women and their lack of importance in a 'work' context. Essay guidance: Develop this point by exploring the idea that her loneliness makes her a
