LAB EXERCISE 5: Lizard Evolution Virtual Lab

Answer the following questions as you finish each module in the virtual lab.

MODULE 1: Introduction

As the introductory module starts, you must select to start with a certain vertebrate category. Which vertebrate category did you select to start with?

Reptiles and amphibians

Did you notice your selected lizard's shape?

Initially, yes, the lizard was a bit strange. As the module progressed, I noticed that the lizard's shape was different from the other lizards I had seen before. It was a bit more like a snake, but it had a tail and legs.

An adaptation is a structure or function that the organism has as a response to its environment. The ability to survive and reproduce is a particular adaptation. Provide one example and an explanation of an adaptation of the lizard (lizard).

The lizard's body is covered in scales, which help it to survive in its environment. The scales are made of keratin, which is a tough, flexible material that can withstand a lot of wear and tear.

Provide one evolutionary adaptation for why lizards have the ability to change their color (i.e., the green) would have evolved a camouflage.

The lizard's ability to change its color is an adaptation that helps it to survive in its environment. The lizard can change its color to match the background, which makes it harder for predators to see it.
