INTRODUCTION: All living organisms have DNA, which is an acid. DNA tells an organism how to develop and function. This complex compound is found in virtually every one of its cells. An entire copy of the same set of instructions, and this set is called the genome, can be extracted from anything, since DNA is the blueprint for life.

Purpose: To extract the DNA from a banana by breaking down the cell membranes. Once extracted, DNA could be observed as a white, stringy substance. This experiment will help you understand the nature of DNA, and then compare the differences between DNA located in a cell.
