Coppolaro, F. McKenzie, 2013-11-20 This book explains the causes and consequences of the intersection of two transformative global forces trade and conflict since 1500 The nine historical case studies interspersed over 500 years and spanning the globe make a major historical contribution to the enduring debate about whether trade makes peace more likely

Cross-Cultural Trade in World History Philip D. Curtin, 1984-05-25 The trade between peoples of different cultures from the ancient world to the commercial revolution     A Global History of Runaways Marcus Rediker, Titas Chakraborty, Matthias van Rossum, 2019-07-30 During global capitalism's long ascent from 1600 1850 workers of all kinds slaves indentured servants convicts domestic workers soldiers and sailors repeatedly ran away from their masters and bosses with profound effects A Global History of Runaways edited by Marcus Rediker Titas Chakraborty and Matthias van Rossum compares and connects runaways in the British Danish Dutch French Mughal Portuguese and American empires Together these essays show how capitalism required vast numbers of mobile workers who would build the foundations of a new economic order At the same time these laborers challenged that order from the undermining of Danish colonization in the seventeenth century to the igniting of civil war in the United States in the nineteenth     History of World Trade Since 1450 ,     The Origins of Globalization Pim de Zwart, Jan Luiten van Zanden, 2018-09-20 For better or for worse in recent times the rapid growth of international economic exchange has changed our lives But when did this process of globalization begin and what effects did it have on economies and societies Pim de Zwart and Jan Luiten van Zanden argue that the networks of trade established after the voyages of Columbus and Da Gama of the late fifteenth century had transformative effects inaugurating the first era of globalization The global flows of ships people money and commodities between 1500 and 1800 were substantial and the re alignment of production and distribution resulting from these connections had important consequences for demography well being state formation and the long term economic growth prospects of the societies involved in the newly created global economy Whether early globalization had benign or malignant effects differed by region but the world economy as we now know it originated in these changes in the early modern period History of World

Trade Since 1450 , Actors of Globalization: New York Merchants in Global Trade, 1784-1812 Lisa

Sturm-Lind,2017-12-18 The monograph Actors of Globalization portrays a group of New York businessmen engaged in global trade from 1784 to 1812 It follows their businesses around the world and shows how through wit flexibility and the help of a worldwide net of business partners the merchants were able to quickly rise to global entrepreneurs speculating on wars food crises and slave revolts The ramifications of their commerce were felt at home where the merchants invested in land and city development established new financial institutions and contributed to a rising consumer culture This book brings together global and local history arguing that private actors played an important role in the economic and social development of the young United States Great Trade Walls in Imperial China and Spain Manuel Perez-Garcia,2023-09-12 This book offers a comparative and polycentric approach to the formation of global trade networks and goods that circumnavigated China America and Europe in the so called process of early globalization during the early modern period Based on a pioneering archival strategy developed by GECM Project Global Encounters between China and Europe www.gecem.eu and funded by the European Research Council ERC the chapters in this volume deploy innovative methodology built on the process of clustering new empirical evidence on geostrategic locations to analyse complex socioeconomic systems Each chapter in this volume focuses on a specific case study that validate the usefulness of this methodology for a more accurate analysis of the self regulating institutions social networks circulation of global goods and information and smuggling activities that characterised the nonlinear markets of early modern China Europe and the Americas These studies constitute a clear example of the new directions of global economic history and how a bottom up approach through new data mining and comparative method helps to unveil big research questions The designing of GECM Project Database www.gecemdatabase.eu stands out as cutting edge Digital Humanities tool used in this book This book is an insightful resource for scholars of Global History and Atlantic studies including those interested in China s trade and history and its global encounters with the West This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Atlantic Studies Global Currents

History of World Trade Since 1450 ,2006 Global Trade in the Nineteenth Century John D. Wong,2016-07-04 In this engaging new study John D Wong examines the Canton trade networks that helped to shape the modern world through the lens of the prominent Chinese merchant Houqua whose trading network and financial connections stretched from China to India America and Britain In contrast to interpretations that see Chinese merchants in this era as victims of rising Western mercantilism and oppressive Chinese traditions Houqua maintained a complex balance between his commercial interests and those of his Western counterparts all in an era of transnationalism before the imposition of the Western world order The success of Houqua and Co in configuring its networks in the fluid context of the early nineteenth century remains instructive today as the contemporary balance of political power renders the imposition of a West centric world system increasingly problematic and requires international traders to adapt to a new world order in which China once again occupies center stage

Global Trade in the Premodern World Richard L. Smith,Edmond Smith,2025-06-26 Global Trade in the Premodern World offers an authoritative and expansive history of exchange and interaction across Eurasia from the prehistoric origins of trade to the integration of large parts of this world system by the fifteenth century CE The book tackles questions that are critical to our understanding of premodern globalization How did global trade in the premodern world take shape Who did the trading and what motivated them Which commodities were traded and how did different goods influence how trading networks functioned How did geography change how and where people carried goods How did states and communities seek to control the practice of commerce And finally what was the impact of trade on political structures and in the relationship between different states empires and communities Drawing on the fruits of research in history anthropology and archaeology as well as primary sources produced by authors from Africa Asia and Europe Global Trade in the Premodern World is a book of remarkable scope written engagingly and accessibly with scholars students and non specialists in mind

Ocean of Trade Pedro

Machado,2014-11-06 Ocean of Trade offers an innovative study of trade production and consumption across the Indian Ocean between the years 1750 and 1850 Focusing on the V niy merchants of Diu and Daman Pedro Machado explores the region s entangled histories of exchange including the African demand for large scale textile production among weavers in Gujarat the distribution of ivory to consumers in Western India and the African slave trade in the Mozambique channel that took captives to the French islands of the Mascarenes Brazil and the Rio de la Plata and the Arabian peninsula and India In highlighting the critical role of particular South Asian merchant networks the book reveals how local African and Indian consumption was central to the development of commerce across the Indian Ocean giving rise to a wealth of regional and global exchange in a period commonly perceived to be increasingly dominated by European company and private capital

Encyclopedia of World Trade: From Ancient Times to the Present Cynthia Clark Northrup, Jerry H. Bentley, Alfred E. Eckes, Jr, Patrick Manning, Kenneth Pomeranz, Steven Topik, 2015-04-10 Written for high school or beginning undergraduate students this four volume reference valiantly attempts to provide a historical framework for the perhaps overly broad concept of world trade Entry topics were selected on trade organizations influential people commodities events that affected trade trade routes navigation religion communic      Global Histories, Imperial Commodities, Local Interactions Jonathan Curry-Machado, 2013-07-12 The papers presented in this collection offer a wide range of cases from Asia Africa and the Americas and broadly cover the last two centuries in which commodities have led to the consolidation of a globalised economy and society forging this out of distinctive local experiences of cultivation and production and regional circuits of trade      The World that Trade Created Kenneth Pomeranz, Steven Topik, 1999      History of World Trade Since 1450 John J. McCusker, 2005 History of World Trade Since 1450 starts at a year regarded as the beginning of the Age of Exploration and examines how the hunt for new resources and markets during that period resulted in the establishment of colonies in Africa the Americas and Asia The set looks at the Industrial Revolution the rise of capitalism and the effects of imperialism on the global economy      Creating A World Economy Alan K. Smith, Dorothy Smith, 1991-08-01 This exploration in world history examines complex and intriguing questions about the origins of the first truly global economy centred in Europe which served as a solid basis for the eventual emergence of the modern world system      From the Indian Ocean to the Mediterranean Sebouh David Aslanian, 2011 Drawing on a rich trove of documents including correspondence not seen for 300 years this study explores the emergence and growth of a remarkable global trade network operated by Armenian silk merchants from a small outpost in the Persian Empire Based in New Julfa Isfahan in what is now Iran these merchants operated a network of commercial settlements that stretched from London and Amsterdam to Manila and Acapulco The New Julfan Armenians were the only Eurasian community that was able to operate simultaneously and successfully in all the major empires of the early modern world both land based Asian empires and the emerging sea borne empires astonishingly without the benefits of an imperial network and state that accompanied and facilitated European mercantile expansion during the same period This book brings to light for the first time the trans imperial cosmopolitan world of the New Julfans Among other topics it explores the effects of long distance trade on the organization of community life the ethos of trust and cooperation that existed among merchants and the importance of information networks and communication in the operation of early modern mercantile communities
