The Case for a Carbon Tax Shi-Ling Hsu, 2012-06-22 There's a simple straightforward way to cut carbon emissions and prevent the most disastrous effects of climate change and we're rejecting it because of irrational political fears That's the central argument of The Case for a Carbon Tax a clear-eyed sophisticated analysis of climate change policy Shi-Ling Hsu examines the four major approaches to curbing CO₂ cap and trade command and control regulation government subsidies of alternative energy and carbon taxes Weighing the economic social administrative and political merits of each he demonstrates why a tax is currently the most effective policy Hsu does not claim that a tax is the perfect or only solution but that unlike the alternatives it can be implemented immediately and paired effectively with other approaches In fact the only real barrier is psychological While politicians can present subsidies and cap and trade as win-win solutions the costs of a tax are immediately apparent Hsu deftly explores the social and political factors that prevent us from embracing this commonsense approach And he shows why we must get past our hang-ups if we are to avert a global crisis

Developments in Higher Education: National Strategies and Global Perspectives (Penerbit USM) Shukran Abd.

Rahman, 2013 Developments in Higher Education National Strategies and Global Perspectives brings together a collection of meticulously researched articles providing insights into the changing nature of higher education through internationalisation and its consequent impact on the futures of higher education. These articles are intended for academics, policymakers and researchers in higher education to enhance their understanding leading ultimately to sustainable human capital development. The book seeks to present a comprehensive discussion on internationalisation as a variable in higher education and hence derive alternative futures of higher education systems. It also suggests a different perspective regarding the appraisal of higher learning institutions and the subsequent influence on policy recommendations. Many of these important aspects are gathered together under topics such as Internationalising Higher Education: A Malaysian Perspective, Rankings and Policy Contradictions, Is It Time to Move Beyond Rankings? and Campuses 2060: Four Futures of Higher Education in Four Alternative Futures of Society. This book is recommended to anyone seeking to further enhance their knowledge in higher education especially in regards to policymaking.

From War to Peace Kent D. Shifferd, 2014-01-10. The world's first peace organizations emerged in the 19th century and since that time anti-war activism has progressed rapidly. This illuminating book presents a realistic analysis of the extent to which the war system has infiltrated all aspects of Western culture and how it works to perpetuate war rather than promote peace. Additionally, the text describes the historically recent and still evolving parallel system of peace institutions. The values and ideas that have grown out of peace activism offer a very real opportunity to outlaw war in the coming century just as slavery was abolished in the 19th century Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Testing Regimes, Accountabilities and Education Policy Bob Lingard, Goli Rezai-Rashti, Wayne Martino, 2017-10-02 Around the globe various kinds of testing including high stakes national census testing have become meta policies steering educational systems in particular directions and having great effects on schools and on teacher practices as well as upon student learning and curricula There has also been a complementary global aspect to this with the OECD's PISA and IEA's TIMSS and PIRLS which have had impacts on national education systems and their policy frameworks While there has been a globalized educational policy discourse that suggests that high stakes standardised testing will drive up standards and enhance the quality of a nation's human capital and thus their international economic competitiveness this discourse still manifests itself in specific vernacular path dependent ways in different nations High stakes testing and its effects can also be seen as part of the phenomenon of the datafication of the world and policy as numbers linked to other reforms of the state including new public management network governance and top down and test based modes of accountability This edited collection provides theoretically and empirically informed analyses of these developments This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Education Policy
