this evidence against the background of policy debates in the wider international setting including a critical discussion of assumptions underlying national narratives of mainstreaming and assimilation In the light of an absence of national guidelines for appropriate practice in schools the authors outline a model of inclusive pedagogy for English as an additional language EAL and a framework of home school communication to promote effective EAL parental engagement in schools

Greening Post-Industrial Cities Corina McKendry, 2017-09-22 City greening has been heralded for contributing to environmental governance and critiqued for exacerbating displacement and inequality. Bringing these two disparate analyses into conversation, this book offers a comparative understanding of how tensions between growth, environmental protection and social equity are playing out in practice. Examining Chicago USA, Birmingham UK and Vancouver Canada, McKendry argues that city greening efforts were closely connected to processes of post-industrial branding in the neoliberal economy. While this brought some benefits, concerns about the unequal distribution of these benefits and greening's limited environmental impact challenged its legitimacy. In response, city leaders have moved toward initiatives that strive to better address environmental effectiveness and social equity while still spurring growth. Through an analysis that highlights how different varieties of liberal environmentalism are manifested in each case, this book illustrates that cities, though constrained by inconsistent political will and broader political and economic contexts, are making contributions to more effective, socially just environmental governance. Both critical and hopeful, McKendry's work will interest scholars of city greening, environmental governance and comparative urban politics.

Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2022-05-30 Home articulates a critical geography of home in which home is understood as an emotive place and spatial imaginary that encompasses lived experiences of everyday domestic life alongside a wider and often contested sense of being and belonging in the world. Engaging with the burgeoning cross-disciplinary interest in home since the first edition was published, this significantly revised and updated second edition contains new research boxes, illustrations and contemporary examples throughout. It also adds a new chapter on Home and the City that extends the scalar understanding of home to the urban. The book develops the conceptual and methodological underpinnings of a critical geography of home, drawing on key feminist, postcolonial and housing thinkers as well as contemporary methodological currents in non-representational thinking and performance. The book's chapters consider the making and unmaking of home across the domestic scale, house as home, the urban city as home, national nation as home and homemaking in relation to transnational migration and diaspora. Each chapter includes illustrative examples from diverse geographical contexts and historical time periods. Chapters also address some of the key cross-cutting dimensions of home across these scales, including digital connectivity, art and performance, more than human constructions of home and violence and dispossession. The book ends with a research agenda for home in a world of COVID-19. The book provides an understanding of home that has three intersecting dimensions: that material and imaginative geographies of home are closely intertwined; that home, power and identity are intimately linked and that geographies of home are multi scalar This framework the examples used to illustrate it and the intended audience of academics and students across the humanities and social sciences will together shape the field of home studies into the future

Family, Children, and Tourism in China Mimi Li,Xinran Lehto,2021-12-14 This edited volume explores various issues in family tourism studies and complements the dramatic development of this market segment in China The book concentrates on family and children tourism and through its chapters hopes to enrich the landscape of family tourism in academia The family market in tourism has received increasing attention over past decades Yet academic endeavors in this area remain somewhat lacking in depth and scope In addition to imbalanced contributions from authors of diverse backgrounds the extant literature suffers from insufficient inclusion of children Relevant studies are largely limited to conventional tourism destinations such as beaches and cultural attractions In response to growing academic interest in family tourism this book is a compilation of eight chapters that attempt to push the scope and boundaries of existing research on family tourism The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of China Tourism Research The Deindustrialized World Steven High,Lachlan MacKinnon,Andrew Perchard,2017-07-20 Since the 1970s the closure of mines mills and factories has marked a rupture in working class lives The Deindustrialized World interrogates the process of industrial ruination from the first impact of layoffs in metropolitan cities suburban areas and single industry towns to the shock waves that rippled outward affecting entire regions countries and beyond Scholars from France Canada Australia the United Kingdom and the United States share personal stories of ruin and ruination and ask others what it means to be working class in a postindustrial world Part 1 examines the ruination of former workplaces and the failing health and injured bodies of industrial workers Part 2 brings to light disparities between rural resource towns and cities where hipster revitalization often overshadows industrial loss Part 3 reveals the ongoing impact of deindustrialization on working people and their place in the new global economy Together the chapters open a window on the lived experiences of people living at ground zero of deindustrialization revealing its layered impacts and examining how workers environmentalists activists and the state have responded to its challenges Handbook on Gender and Cities Linda Peake,Anindita Datta,Grace Adeniyi-Ogunyankin,2024-10-03 This Handbook acts as a state of the art foundation for the field of gender and cities scholarship through in depth assessments of the latest research within key areas of feminist urban academia Multidisciplinary in its scope editors Linda Peake Anindita Datta and Grace Adeniyi Ogunyan bring together over 60 feminist scholars to present contemporary research in this important field of study Fiddling Is My Joy Jacqueline Cogdell DjeDje,2025-06-18 In Fiddling Is My Joy Jacqueline Cogdell DjeDje examines the history of fiddling among African Americans from the seventeenth to the mid twentieth century Although music historians acknowledge a prominent African American fiddle tradition during the era of slavery only recently have researchers begun to closely examine the history and social implications of these musical practices Research on African music reveals a highly developed tradition in West Africa which dates to the eleventh or twelfth century and continues today From these West African roots fiddling was prominent in many African American communities between the seventeenth and nineteenth centuries and the fiddle became an important instrument in early twentieth century blues jazz and jug bands While less common in late twentieth century African American jazz and popular music groups the fiddle remained integral to the musicking of some Black musicians in the rural South Featured in Fiddling Is My Joy is access to a comprehensive online eScholarship Companion that contains maps photographs audiovisual examples and other materials to expand the work of this enlightening and significant study To understand the immense history of fiddling DjeDje uses geography to weave together a common thread by profiling the lives and contributions of Black fiddlers in various parts of the rural South and Midwest including the mountains and along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts In addition to exploring the extent that musical characteristics and aesthetics identified with African and European cultures were maintained or reinterpreted in Black fiddling she also investigates how the sharing of musical ideas between Black and white fiddlers affected the development of both traditions Most importantly she considers the contradiction in representation Historical evidence suggests that the fiddle may be one of the oldest uninterrupted instrumental traditions in African American culture yet most people in the United States including African Americans do not identify it with Black music Gothic for Girls Julia Round,2019-10-29 Winner of the 2019 Broken Frontier Award for Best Book on Comics Today fans still remember and love the British girls comic Misty for its bold visuals and narrative complexities Yet its unique history has drawn little critical attention Bridging this scholarly gap Julia Round presents a comprehensive cultural history and detailed discussion of the comic preserving both the inception and development of this important publication as well as its stories Misty ran for 101 issues as a stand alone publication between 1978 and 1980 and then four more years as part of Tammy It was a hugely successful anthology comic containing one shot and serialized stories of supernatural horror and fantasy aimed at girls and young women and featuring work by writers and artists who dominated British comics such as Pat Mills Malcolm Shaw and John Armstrong as well as celebrated European artists To this day Misty remains notable for its daring and sophisticated stories strong female characters innovative page layouts and big visuals In the first book on this topic Round closely analyzes Misty s content including its creation and production its cultural and historical context key influences and the comic itself Largely based on Round s own archival research the study also draws on interviews with many of the key creators involved in this comic including Pat Mills Wilf Prigmore and its art editorial team Jack Cunningham and Ted Andrews who have never previously spoken about their work Richly illustrated with previously unpublished photos scripts and letters this book uses Misty as a lens to explore the use of Gothic themes and symbols in girls comics and other media It surveys existing work on childhood and Gothic and offers a working definition of Gothic for Girls a subgenre which challenges and instructs readers in a number of ways Bordering Nira Yuval-Davis,Georgie Wemyss,Kathryn Cassidy,2019-06-10 Controlling national borders has once again become a key concern of contemporary states and a highly contentious issue in social and political life But controlling borders is about much more than patrolling territorial boundaries at the edges of states it now comprises a multitude of practices that take place at different levels some at the edges of states and some in the local contexts of everyday life in workplaces in hospitals in schools which taken together construct reproduce and contest borders and the rights and obligations associated with belonging to a nation state This book is a systematic exploration of the practices and processes that now define state bordering and the role it plays in national and global governance Based on original research it goes well beyond traditional approaches to the study of migration and racism showing how these processes affect all members of society not just the marginalized others The uncertainties arising from these processes mean that more and more people find themselves living in grey zones excluded from any form of protection and often denied basic human rights
