Engagement Carl Senior, 2015-07-10 There is an extensive literature conducted from a range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies on the role of groups and student learning in higher education However here the concept of the group is heavily contested at a theoretical level but within higher education practice characterizing the group has tended to be clear cut Groups of students are often formed within the parameters of specific educational programs to address explicitly defined learning objectives These groups are often small scale and achieve tasks through cooperative or collaborative learning Cooperative learning involves students dividing roles and responsibilities between group members so learning becomes an independent process and outcome On the other hand collaborative learning involves students working together by developing shared meanings and knowledge to solve a task or problem From this perspective learning is conceptualized as both a social process and individual outcome That is collaborative learning may facilitate individual student conceptual understanding and hence lead to higher academic achievement The empirical evidence is encouraging as has been shown that students working collaboratively tend to achieve higher grades than students working independently However the above perspectives on student engagement assume that groups are formed within the confines of formal learning environments e g lecture theaters involve students on the same degree program have the explicit function of achieving a learning task and disband once this has been achieved However students may also use existing social networks such as friendship groups as a mechanism for learning which may occur outside of formal learning environments There is an extensive literature on the role and benefits of friendship groups on student learning within primary and secondary education but there is a distinct lack of research within higher education This ebook is innovative and ambitious and will highlight and consolidate the current understanding of the role that student based engagement behaviors may serve in effective pedagogy A unique aspect of this research topic will be the fact that scholars will also be welcome to submit articles that describe the efficacy of the full range of approaches that have been employed to facilitate student engagement across the sector

McDonald,2022-01-25 This edited volume brings together a broad range of international science education studies focusing on the interplay of teaching and learning science It recognizes the complexity present in today s education associated with major science related issues faced by society such as climate change diseases and pandemics global conflicts over energy food and water The studies discussed in this volume are focused on presenting different opportunities to teach these convoluted matters in order to find simplicity within the complexity and make it accessible to learners They bring together the challenges of preparing the students of today to become scientifically informed citizens of tomorrow Proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Learning Innovation and Quality Education (ICLIQE 2022) Moh Salimi,Gunarhadi,Ratna Hidayah,Dewanta Arya Nugraha,2023-12-01 This is an open access book The 6th International Conference on Learning Innovation and Quality Education ICLIQE 2022 is organized by Faculty of Teacher Training and Education The purpose of the ICLIQE 2022 activity is as a forum to accommodate researchers academics educators and education staff consultants government and other stakeholders to share perspectives related to educational trends seen from the perspective of society 5 0 era which includes the fields of science and technology education social and humanities management education basic education special education early childhood education guidance and counseling curriculum and educational evaluation and innovation Radiation Technologies and Applications in Materials Science Subhendu Ray Chowdhury,2022-12-30

This book explains various kinds of non ionizing and high energy radiations their interaction with materials and chemical reactions and conditions of various kinds of materials development technologies including applications It covers a processing structure property relationship and radiations used in developing many advanced materials used in various fields It highlights application oriented materials synthesis and modification covering a wide variety of materials such as plastics rubber thermo set ceramics and so forth by various radiations Features Explains ionizing and non ionizing radiation assisted materials development technologies for polymers ceramics metals and carbons Covers radiation assisted synthesis processing and modification of all kinds of materials Provides comparative studies merits demerits and applications very systematically Criss crosses polymers science and technology radiation technology advanced materials technology biomaterials technology and so forth Includes a section on 3D printing by LASER melting of CoCr alloys This book is aimed at researchers and graduate students in materials science radiation chemistry and physics and polymer and other materials processing Future Earth Diana Dalbotten,Gillian Roehrig,Patrick Hamilton,2014-04-08 Earth now is dominated by both biogeophysical and anthropogenic processes as represented in these two images from a simulation of aerosols Dust red from the Sahara sweeps west across the Atlantic Ocean Sea salt blue rises into the atmosphere from winds over the North Atlantic and from a tropical cyclone in the Indian Ocean Organic and black carbon green from biomass burning is notable over the Amazon and Southeast Asia Plumes of sulfate white from fossil fuel burning are particularly prominent over northeastern North America and East Asia If present trends of dust emissions and fossil fuel burning continues in what we call the Anthropocene epoch then we could experience high atmospheric CO₂ levels leading to unusual warming rarely experienced in Earth's history This book focuses on human influences on land ocean and the atmosphere to determine if human activities are operating within or beyond the safe zones of our planet's biological chemical and physical systems Volume highlights include Assessment of civic understanding of Earth and its future Understanding the role of undergraduate geoscience research and community driven research on the Anthropocene Effective communication of science to a broader audience that would include the public the K 12 science community or populations underrepresented in the sciences Public outreach on climate education geoscience alliance and scientific reasoning Future Earth is a valuable practical guide for scientists from all disciplines including geoscientists museum curators science educators and public policy makers

Wonder Frank C. Keil, 2022-03-01 How we can all be lifelong wonderers restoring the sense of joy in discovery we felt as children From an early age children pepper adults with questions that ask why and how Why do balloons float How do plants grow from seeds Why do birds have feathers Young children have a powerful drive to learn about their world wanting to know not just what something is but also how it got to be that way and how it works Most adults on the other hand have little curiosity about whys and hows we might unlock a door for example or boil an egg with no idea of what happens to make such a thing possible How can grown ups recapture a child's sense of wonder at the world In this book Frank Keil describes the cognitive dispositions that set children on their paths of discovery and explains how we can all become lifelong wonderers Keil describes recent research on children's minds that reveals an extraordinary set of emerging abilities that underpin their joy of discovery their need to learn not just the facts but the underlying causal patterns at the very heart of science This glorious sense of wonder however is stifled beginning in elementary school Later with little interest in causal mechanisms and motivated by intellectual blind spots as adults we become vulnerable to misinformation and manipulation ready to believe things that aren't true Of course the polymaths among us have retained their sense of wonder and Keil explains the habits of mind and ways of wondering that allow them and can enable us to experience the joy of asking why and how
