speech Between sessions in 1849 Davis canvassed Mississippi addressing gatherings throughout the state in favor of congressional candidates He warned of northern aggressions yet urged the exhaustion of all means of peaceful resistance before secession be considered When he returned home after the arduous 1850 session he defended his course denying charges that he was a disunionist In February 1850 Davis had been reelected to the Senate for a full six year term but in September 1851 he resigned to accept the State Rights nomination for governor in opposition to Union nominee Henry Foote Although illness precluded much active campaigning in the few weeks before the election Davis substantially reduced the Union lead and lost by a narrow margin A private citizen for the first time since 1845 Davis continued his involvement in politics Despite nagging personal problems and ill health he promoted Democratic unity and took to the stump for Franklin Pierce in 1852
