

BLEEDING FUEL SYSTEM

CAUTION: Escaping diesel fuel under pressure can have sufficient force to penetrate the skin, causing serious personal injury. Before disconnecting lines be sure to relieve all pressure. Before applying pressure to the system, be sure all connections are tight and that lines, pipes and hoses are not damaged. Fuel escaping from a very small hole can be almost invisible. Use a piece of cardboard or wood, rather than hands, to search for suspected leaks.

If injured by escaping fuel, see a doctor at once. Serious infection or reaction can develop if proper medical treatment is not administered immediately.

Whenever the fuel system has been opened up for service (lines disconnected or filters removed), it will be necessary to bleed the air from system.

To bleed the fuel system on "D" engines, loosen the bleed plug on the fuel filter base (A, Fig. 6) and operate the hand primer on the fuel pump until most of the air bubbles are expelled from the filter.

Push the hand primer back (toward engine) as far as possible and tighten filter bleed plug.

To bleed the fuel system on "T" and "A" engines, loosen the bleed plug (A, Fig. 6). Unscrew the hand primer knurled knob on the fuel pump, and loosen until it can be pulled up by hand. Operate the hand primer until most of the air bubbles are expelled from the glass bowl on the pump.

Push hand primer down and tighten. Tighten bleed plug.

NOTE: If the engine will not start, it may be necessary to loosen the fuel pipes at the injection nozzles to bleed air from the system. With the hand throttle pushed all the way in, turn the engine over with the starter until fuel without air flows from the loose fuel pipe connections. Tighten the connections.

FUEL INJECTION PUMP

4270D

Removal

Clean the injection pump, pipes, and area around the pump with cleaning solvent or a steam cleaner.

IMPORTANT: Never steam clean or pour cold water on an injection pump while the pump is running or while it is warm. To do so may cause seizure of pump parts.

Fig. 8-Removing 4270D Fuel Injection Pump

1. Set engine to No. 1 TDC compression (see page 10-05-00).
2. Disconnect electrical fuel shut-off lead.
3. Disconnect speed control linkage (not shown).
4. Disconnect fuel inlet and return lines.
5. Disconnect tachometer drive cable.
6. Remove fuel lines. Cap fittings on nozzles and on injection pump.
7. Remove hold-down nuts and lift injection pump from engine.
