This unique volume traces the critically important pathway by which a molecule becomes an anticancer agent The recognition following World War I that the administration of toxic chemicals such as nitrogen mustards in a controlled manner could shrink malignant tumor masses for relatively substantial periods of time gave great impetus to the search for molecules that would be lethal to specific cancer cells We are still actively engaged in that search today The question is how to discover these anticancer molecules Anticancer Drug Development Guide Preclinical Screening Clinical Trials and Approval Second Edition describes the evolution to the present of preclinical screening methods The National Cancer Institute's high throughput in vitro disease specific screen with 60 or more human tumor cell lines is used to search for molecules with novel mechanisms of action or activity against specific phenotypes The Human Tumor Colony Forming Assay HTCA uses fresh tumor biopsies as sources of cells that more nearly resemble the human disease There is no doubt that the greatest successes of traditional chemotherapy have been in the leukemias and lymphomas Since the earliest widely used in vivo drug screening models were the murine L 1210 and P388 leukemias the community came to assume that these murine tumor models were appropriate to the discovery of antileukemia agents but that other tumor models would be needed to discover drugs active against solid tumors      Biochemical Targets of Plant Bioactive Compounds Gideon Polya,2003-05-15 When introduced to the human body bioactive metabolites produced by plants for self defense bind to particular biochemical targets most notably to proteins involved in signaling by hormones and neurotransmitters This essentially is the basis for the effects of herbal medicine While herbal medicine preparations may act by complex synergistic interactions molecular explanations of herbal medicine efficacy and side effects ultimately require definition of the biochemical targets of individual plant bioactive constituents Biochemical Targets of Plant Bioactive Compounds is a comprehensive and user friendly reference guide to biochemical targets of plant defensive compounds With 500 pages of tables it presents a mine of succinctly summarized information relating to bioactive compound structures plant sources biochemical targets and physiological effects that can be readily accessed via chemical compound plant genus plant common name and subject indexes With introductory chapters providing reviews of the structural diversity of plant defensive compounds and biochemistry this book is an invaluable reference for biomedical professionals in the fields of alternative complementary medicine natural product chemistry toxicology pharmacology and botany      Census Catalog and Guide
