An Age of Accountability John L. Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree

Shaping Education Policy Douglas E. Mitchell, Dorothy Shipps, Robert L. Crowson, 2017-09-27 Shaping Education Policy is a comprehensive overview of education politics and policy which provides conceptual guideposts for future policy development and strategies for change Leading scholars explore the interacting social processes and the dynamics of power politics as they intersect with democratic ideals and shape school performance Chapters cover major themes that have influenced education including the Civil Rights Movement federal involvement the accountability movement family choice and development of nationalization and globalization This edited collection examines how education policy in the United States has evolved over the last several decades and how the resulting policies are affecting schools and the children who attend them This important book is a necessary resource for understanding the evolution current status and possibilities of educational policy and politics
