book show that there is more to a discussion on educational quality in Africa than performance success and or inclusion The chapters explain how ESD brings a new relevance to education in Africa and at the same time sounds the beginning of a new concept of quality education The volume presents a collection of experiences in creating and supporting quality learning processes through a variety of ESD practices Biological Invasions in South Africa Brian W. van Wilgen, John Measey, David M. Richardson, John R. Wilson, Tsungai A. Zengeya, 2020-03-10 This open access volume presents a comprehensive account of all aspects of biological invasions in South Africa where research has been conducted over more than three decades and where bold initiatives have been implemented in attempts to control invasions and to reduce their ecological economic and social effects It covers a broad range of themes including history policy development and implementation the status of invasions of animals and plants in terrestrial marine and freshwater environments the development of a robust ecological theory around biological invasions the effectiveness of management interventions and scenarios for the future The South African situation stands out because of the remarkable diversity of the country and the wide range of problems encountered in its varied ecosystems which has resulted in a disproportionate investment into both research and management The South African experience holds many lessons for other parts of the world and this book should be of immense value to researchers students managers and policy makers who deal with biological invasions and ecosystem management and conservation in most other regions Science for Ninth Class Part 1 Biology Lakhmir Singh & Manjit Kaur, A series of books for Classes IX and X according to the CBSE syllabus and CCE Pattern Science For Ninth Class Part 3 Biology P.S. detection of cryptic species Discusses the advances in information science that influence the increased capability to gather manipulate and analyze biodiversity information Comprises scholarly contributions from leading scientists in the field Insect Biodiversity Science and Society highlights the rapid growth of insect biodiversity research and includes an expanded treatment of the topic that addresses the major insect groups the zoogeographic regions of biodiversity and the scope of systematics approaches for handling biodiversity data

The East African Great Lakes: Limnology, Palaeolimnology and Biodiversity Eric O. Odada, Daniel O. Olago, 2006-03-09 The Second International Symposium on the East African Lakes was held from 10-15 January 2000 at Club Makokola on the southern shore of Lake Malawi The symposium was organized by the International Decade for the East African Lakes IDEAL a research consortium of African European and North American scientists interested in promoting the investigations of African Great Lakes as archives of environmental and climatic dynamics Over one hundred African European and North American scientists with special expertise in the tropical lakes participated in the symposium which featured compelling presentations on the limnology climatology palaeoclimatology and biodiversity of the East African Lakes It is their papers that comprise this book The large lakes of East Africa are important natural resources that are heavily utilized by their bordering countries for transportation water supply fisheries waste disposal recreation and tourism The lakes are unique in many ways they are sensitive to climatic change and their circulation dynamics water column chemistry and biological complexity differ significantly from large lakes at higher latitudes they have long continuous high resolution records of past climatic change and they have rich and diverse populations of endemic organisms These unique properties and the significance of the palaeolimnological records demand and attract research interest from around the world

Biosynthesis and Molecular Genetics of Fungal Secondary Metabolites, Volume 2 Susanne Zeilinger, Juan-Francisco Martín, Carlos García-Estrada, 2015-06-15 Fungi produce many chemically diverse secondary metabolites whose biological roles largely remain elusive Within the increasing number of sequenced fungal genomes several important genes involved in secondary metabolite formation have been identified Most of these genes are clustered and their coordinated transcription is controlled in a complex way by both narrow pathway specific regulators as well as broad global transcription factors responsive to environmental cues In recent years it was discovered many of the newly identified gene clusters are silent under laboratory conditions suggesting that the biosynthetic potential of fungi is far from being exploited Besides identifying novel bioactive metabolites from still unexplored sources the activation of these gene clusters by several approaches may result in the discovery of new substances with antibiotic and pharmaceutical benefits This book covers recent advances in the field of fungal secondary metabolisms ranging from methodologies to biological aspects and will include the latest knowledge on fungal molecular biology genomics and metabolomics With the related volume by Professor Juan Francisco Martin where the most relevant and well studied fungal secondary metabolites are compiled this book provides a comprehensive overview of the state of the art of research on fungal secondary metabolites

Determinants of Biodiversity, Ecosystem Functioning and Restoration in Climate Change Sensitive Ecosystems

Hui Zhang,Xiang Liu,Robert John,2023-11-27 Human activities such as agriculture and mining have led to serious negative effects on biodiversity and important ecosystem services including biodiversity loss and climate change Thus it is important to quantify the key determinants of biodiversity ecosystem functioning and ecological restoration of degraded plant communities in climate change sensitive ecosystems i e subalpine and alpine meadow communities in Qinghai tropical rainforests and tropical mountains In this way effective management policy and methods can be developed to reduce the influence of climate change on these climate change sensitive ecosystems The aforementioned human activities continue to destroy and degrade plant communities and ecosystem functioning Climatic changes further exacerbate negative impacts and may trigger rapid loss of species precipitate decline and changes in the flows of ecosystem goods and services As the collective anthropogenic influence intensifies some ecosystems may be more sensitive than others to these changes

Ecosystems that contribute greatly to human well being through the delivery of biodiversity and ecosystem benefits should be the focus of particular concern There are key knowledge gaps on the specific nature of anthropogenic impacts species and ecosystem responses and possible management and mitigation measures Comprehensive documentation of these aspects from highly sensitive regions and ecosystems is urgently needed particularly at fine scales which is relevant for developing management and mitigation measures Pathways such as ecological restoration can offset some of the impacts but even quantifying the impacts of observed and anticipated changes is far from adequate and other mitigation measures must be considered
