CO1	Students will be able to define and compare the different modes of heat transfer and calculation of thermal resistance and heat transfer through plane and composite wall, cylinder and sphere with and without thermal contact resistances.
CO2	Students will be able to apply the concept of internal heat generation for the calculation of heat transfer for plane wall, cylinder and sphere and also learn about various types of fins and their significance in steady state conduction heat transfer calculations. It will also help them to understand the concept of unsteady state heat transfer.
CO3	Students will be able to select and apply appropriate empirical correlations to estimate forced convection and free convection heat transfer, for internal and external flows.
CO4	Students will be able to evaluate heat transfer rate by radiation from ideal and actual surfaces and enclosures of different geometries.
CO5	Students will be able to evaluate heat exchanger performance for the given geometry and boundary conditions and design suitable heat exchanger geometry to deliver a desired heat transfer rate.
