Gerten, Aaron R. Hanlon, 2023-01-13 Enlightenment era writers had not yet come to take technology for granted but nonetheless were as we are today both attracted to and repelled by its potential This volume registers the deep history of such ambivalence examining technology's influence on Enlightenment British literature as well as the impact of literature on conceptions of attitudes toward and implementations of technology Offering a counterbalance to the abundance of studies on literature and science in seventeenth and eighteenth century Britain this volume's focus encompasses approaches to literary history that help us understand technologies like the steam engine and the telegraph along with representations of technology in literature such as the political machine Contributors ultimately show how literature across genres provided important sites for Enlightenment readers to recognize themselves as chimeras hybrids of machine and organism and to explore the modern self as a creature of social reality as well as a creature of fiction British Books in Print, 1967 Occupational Outlook Quarterly, 1993 OOQ, Occupational Outlook Quarterly, 1993 Heaven-Sent Gary Hopper, 2024-03-26 Shortly after World War II a covert US agency was established to recover scientific records left by one of Hitler's top secret programs The dictator once dreamt of creating the perfect soldier but ran out of time as the war ended The agency was directed to pick up where the Germans left off but with one huge difference they were asked to scientifically create the perfect human being The agency achieved its goal In 1950 the top secret laboratory became the birthplace of the first American test tube baby Over the next eight years they eagerly molded their prototype into a unique creation they named Gabriel Per the plan to assimilate the youth into society Gabriel was abandoned at the front door of an unsuspecting middle class family The scientists hoped Gabriel would be accepted into their home and would quickly acclimate into their lifestyle The plan worked The chosen family embraced the orphan as a heaven sent answer to their prayers Maynard the family's biological child discovered his new brother was gifted with unimaginable abilities For example Gabriel had a photographic memory and could recite the entire Bible by the age of three He had an indescribable talent to hear other people's thoughts and alter them The youngster recorded the second highest IQ score ever achieved He even demonstrated eyesight comparable with elite predatory birds Because of his vision Gabriel soon became a baseball phenom and the best pure hitter to have ever stepped into a batter's box After a work related tragedy killed her husband the wife relocated with her two sons from Clovis

California to Portland Oregon It was a blessed opportunity to begin anew Gabriel excelled On the diamond the youngster distinguished himself as a local hero by leading his team to a state championship Off the field a few kids attempted to bully him Gabriel a devoted follower of Christ protected himself without sacrificing his beliefs Gabriel was valedictorian of his high school graduating class after which he went on to play professional baseball in the minor leagues He was a rising star on the verge of greatness when divine providence interceded
