

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

Once upon a time there lived a poor widow and her son Jack. One day, Jack's mother told him to sell their only cow. Jack went to the market and on the way he met a man who wanted to buy his cow. Jack asked, "What will you give me in return for my cow?" The man answered, "I will give you five magic beans!" Jack took the magic beans and gave the man the cow. But when he reached home, Jack's mother was very angry. She said, "You fool! He took away your cow and gave you some beans!" She threw the beans out of the window. Jack was very sad and went to sleep without dinner.

The next day, when Jack woke up in the morning and looked out of the window, he saw that a huge beanstalk had grown from his magic beans! He climbed up the beanstalk and reached a kingdom in the sky. There lived a giant and his wife. Jack went inside the house and found the giant's wife in the kitchen. Jack said, "Could you please give me something to eat? I am so hungry!" The kind wife gave him bread and some milk.

While he was eating, the giant came home. The giant was very big and looked very fearsome. Jack was terrified and went and hid inside. The giant cried, "Fee-fi-fo-fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman. Be he alive, or be he dead, I'll grind his bones to make my bread!" The wife said, "There is no boy in here!" So, the giant ate his food and then went to his room. He took out his sacks of gold coins, counted them and kept them aside. Then he went to sleep. In the night, Jack crept out of his hiding place, took one sack of gold coins and climbed down the beanstalk. At home, he gave the coins to his mother. His mother was very happy and they lived well for sometime.

Jack climbed the beanstalk and went to the giant's house again. Once again, Jack asked the giant's wife for food, but while he was eating the giant returned. Jack leapt up in fright and went and hid under the bed. The giant cried, "Fee-fi-fo-fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman. Be he alive, or be he dead, I'll grind his bones to make my bread!" The wife said, "There is no boy in here!" The giant ate his food and went to his room. There, he took out a hen. He shouted, "Lay!" and the hen laid a golden egg. When the giant fell asleep, Jack took the hen and climbed down the beanstalk. Jack's mother was very happy with him.

After some days, Jack once again climbed the beanstalk and went to the giant's castle. For the third time, Jack met the giant's wife and asked for some food. Once again, the giant's wife gave him bread and milk. But while Jack was eating, the giant came home.

Tales of magic, tales in print Willem De Blecourt, 2021-06-15 Since the beginning of the nineteenth century folklorists and the general public in their wake have assumed the orality of fairy tales Only lately have more and more specialists been arguing in favour of at least an interdependence between oral and printed distribution of stories This book takes an extreme position in that debate as far as Tales of magic is concerned the initial transmission proceeded exclusively through prints From a historical perspective this is the only viable approach the opposite assumption of a vast unrecorded and thus inaccessible reservoir of oral stories presents a horror vacui Only in the course of the nineteenth century when folklorists started collecting in the field and asked their informants for fairy tales was this particular genre incorporated into a then feeble oral tradition Even then story tellers regularly reverted to printed texts Every recorded fairy tale can be shown to be dependent on previous publications or to be a new composition constructed on the basis of fragments of stories already in existence Tales of magic tales in print traces the textual history of a number of fairy tale clusters linking the findings of literary historians on the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries to the material collected by nineteenth and twentieth century field workers While it places fairy tales as a genre firmly in a European context it also follows particular stories in their dispersion over the rest of the world

White as well as bedtime frighteners including Captain Murderer as told to Charles Dickens by his childhood nurse Neil Philip has provided a full introduction and source notes on each story that illustrate each tale's journey from mouth to page and what has happened to them on the way. These tales rank among the finest English short stories of all time in their richness of metaphor and plot and their great verbal dash and daring. Jack and the Beanstalk, 2008. A boy climbs to the top of a giant beanstalk where he uses his quick wits to outsmart an ogre and make his and his mother's fortune. Includes historical notes on versions of this tale, other heroic stories and alternate ascension tales. Children's Literature Barbara Stoodt, 1996. Strategies for Teaching Science Barbara Houtz, 2011-05-04. Support inquiry exploration with research-based strategies to develop scientific thinking. This resource provides model lessons, management techniques and strategies to build students' real-world understanding of scientific concepts. Drama, Narrative and Moral Education Joe Winston, 2005-06-21. Teachers are expected to take responsibility for children's moral development, particularly in the primary years, but how best to go about approaching the issues. In this book, the author explores a classroom approach that uses both drama and narrative stories to explore moral issues. Drama gives children an opportunity to work through moral problems, make decisions and take up moral positions; stories offer a resource for moral education whereby children can learn through the experiences of those in the story. Through providing a number of case studies, the author shows how this may be done by practitioners in the classroom. The Rooster's Wife Russell Edson, 2005-04-01. For the past 40 years, Russell Edson has been producing a body of work unique in its perspective and singular in its approach. He is arguably America's most distinguished writer of prose poems. Here are contorted Darwinian narratives of apes and monkeys exhibiting absurdly human behavior along with his usual menagerie of elephants, horses, chickens, roosters, dogs, mermaids and mice. Along with his trademark humor, The Rooster's Wife finds Edson contemplating age, mortality and immortality as well as Of Memory and Distance. It's a scientific fact that anyone entering the distance will grow smaller as he proceeds. Eventually becoming so small, he might only be found with a microscope if indeed he is found at all. But there is a vanishing point where anyone having entered the distance must disappear entirely without hope of his ever returning, leaving only the memory of his ever having been. But then there is fiction so that one can never really be sure if one is remembering someone who vanished into the distance or simply who had been made of paper and ink. Russell Edson has been called a surrealist comic genius, a magician of metaphor and imagination. He is all of these and a philosophical poet whose zany expeditions into the twisted labyrinths of logic resemble Lewis Carroll's adventures through the wonderlands of paradox and illusion. Perhaps that is why even people who do not read significant amounts of contemporary poetry can immediately appreciate the playful accessibility of Russell Edson's writing. What he pulls out of the hat of the subconscious is always unpredictable, immediate and surprising. Russell Edson's books include The Very Thing That Happens 1964, The Childhood of an Equestrian 1973, The Tunnel Selected Poems 1994 and The House of Sara Loo Rain Taxi Chapbook Series 2002. He lives in Darien, Connecticut. James Still Ted

Postemotional Bully Stjepan Mestrovic, 2014-12-15 The topics of bullying and hazing have sparked interest and discussion in recent years Hazing is a crime in the United States and Western nations have made efforts to stamp out bullying in schools the workplace and institutions However for the most part bullying and hazing are ill defined and lack theoretical perspective Mestrovic brings classical as well as contemporary social theory to bear on this discussion Thorstein Veblen defined the predatory barbarian as the social type enshrined by modernity who prefers to use force over peaceable means to achieve ends On the other extreme Marcel Mauss wrote about the spirit of the gift and its obligations to give to receive and to reciprocate as the fundamental basis of social life Yet he argued that the spirit of modernity was disappearing with the progress of modernity Mestrovic traces this fundamental opposition between barbaric force or bullying versus benign obligation that is the spirit of the gift through a host of modernist and postmodernist thinkers and theories He introduces the concept of the postemotional bully as an alternative to both of these major bodies of social theory The postemotional bully as a social type is fungible beset by screen images on media and social media that are isolating and is at the mercy of the peer group Case studies focus on bullying and hazing specifically the cases of an American soldier who committed suicide in Afghanistan instances of torture at Abu Ghraib and the murder of a 23 year old African American inmate in a Southern state prison in the US
