Technical Reports Lutz Hering,Heike Hering,2010-10-14 Technical Reports are usually written according to general standards corporate sign standards of the current university or company logical rules and practical experiences These rules are not known well enough among engineers There are many books that give general advice in writing This book is specialised in how to write Technical Reports and addresses not only engineers but also natural scientists computer scientists etc It is based on the 6 edition published in 2008 by Springer in German and is now published as 1 edition by Springer in English

Both authors of the German edition have long experience in educating engineers at the University of Applied Sciences Hannover. They have held many lectures where students had to write reports and took notes about all positive and negative examples that occurred in design reports, lab work reports and in theses. Prof. Dr. Lutz Hering has worked for VOLKSWAGEN and DAIMLER and then changed to the University of Applied Sciences Hannover where he worked from 1974 until 2000. He held lectures on Technical Drawing, Construction and Design, CAD and Materials Science. Dr. Heike Hering worked nine years as a Technical Writer and was responsible for many CAD manuals in German and English. She is now employed at TV NORD Akademie where she is responsible for E-Learning projects, technical documentation and software training and supervises students who are writing their theses.

Prof. Dr. Ing. The Portuguese Language in the Digital Age Georg Rehm, Hans Uszkoreit, 2012-05-30

This white paper is part of a series that promotes knowledge about language technology and its potential. It addresses educators, journalists, politicians, language communities and others. The availability and use of language technology in Europe varies between languages. Consequently, the actions that are required to further support research and development of language technologies also differ for each language. The required actions depend on many factors such as the complexity of a given language and the size of its community. META-NET, a Network of Excellence funded by the European Commission, has conducted an analysis of current language resources and technologies. This analysis focused on the 23 official European languages as well as other important national and regional languages in Europe. The results of this analysis suggest that there are many significant research gaps for each language. A more detailed expert analysis and assessment of the current situation will help maximise the impact of additional research and minimize any risks. META-NET consists of 54 research centres from 33 countries that are working with stakeholders from commercial businesses, government agencies, industry, research organisations, software companies, technology providers and European universities. Together they are creating a common technology vision while developing a strategic research agenda that shows how language technology applications can address any research gaps by 2020.
