Objectives

Click on <https://www.khanacademy.org/a/what-is-a-virtual-blood-pressure-lab/a/what-is-a-virtual-blood-pressure-lab/virtual-blood-pressure-lab> to explore the lab. Review the objectives of this experiment before you.

Introduction

Click "Introduction" in the upper right corner to read the introduction to the experiment. Click the "Tutorial" button and answer the three questions below.

1. Which is greater: blood pressure in the left ventricle or right ventricle?

The left ventricle has a higher blood pressure than the right ventricle because the left ventricle pumps blood to the entire body, while the right ventricle only pumps blood to the lungs.

2. Which blood pressure value is the highest and which is the lowest? Explain why you think this is the case.

The highest blood pressure is the systolic blood pressure, which is the pressure in the arteries during the contraction of the heart. The lowest blood pressure is the diastolic blood pressure, which is the pressure in the arteries during the relaxation of the heart.

3. How do you think the blood pressure will change if you increase the heart rate? Explain your answer.

I think the blood pressure will increase if the heart rate increases because the heart is pumping more blood into the arteries, which increases the pressure.

Steps

To run the experiment, click the "Run Experiment" button in the bottom right corner. Set the experiment to run for 100 seconds and click "Run Experiment". In the bottom right corner, you will see the current blood pressure values.
