understood Nevertheless such changes now constitute a significant influence on the working of the Earth's systems that will have increasing consequences for patterns of occurrence of infectious diseases Many of these changes are illustrated in this report A common theme of this report is bidirectional causation effectively trapping complex linked eco social systems in stable states that are resistant to intervention For example poverty is associated with ill health low education and often with poor diets either because of under nutrition and diarrhoea or intakes that have excessive calories but insufficient micronutrients In either case poverty impairs health and ill health impairs the escape from poverty Another example is provided by a recent abundant agricultural harvest in India that has far exceeded storage capacity A substantial fraction of this harvest will be wasted due to inadequate storage Some grain that is badly stored will be contaminated by aflatoxins and other fungi which increases the risk of cancer This report presents the case for a more integrated approach across sectors research disciplines and diseases taking greater account of the increasingly widespread and systemic influences on disease emergence and spread
