Lee,2013 Why and how has civic engagement emerged in the policy process of Hong Kong as an Asian semi democratic state This book attempts to answer this question through examining six cases that straddle diverse policy domains It identifies three explanatory factors namely the profile of a policy domain the structure of societal interest and the strength of the civil society sector as important in shaping the state s strategy in managing society hence its propensity to engage These factors affect the outcome through dynamic interaction between the state and societal actors The findings outlined in the book show that the development of civic engagement in Hong Kong consists of both society led and state led cases Society led development brought about a high degree of openness and inclusiveness whereas state led civic engagement practices tended to be tactics utilized by the state for appeasing or depoliticizing civil society Compared with other Asian regimes the use of transgressive contention as a way to compel the state to engage society is a feature that stands out in the liberal autocratic regime in Hong Kong The English Catalogue of Books ...: 1801-1836. Taking travel home Emma Gleadhill, 2022-04-26

In the late eighteenth century elite British women had an unprecedented opportunity to travel. Taking travel home uncovers the souvenir culture these women developed around the texts and objects they brought back with them to realise their ambitions in the arenas of connoisseurship, friendship and science. Key characters include forty-three year old Hester Piozzi Thrale who honeymooned in Italy, thirty-one year old Anna Miller who accompanied her husband on a Grand Tour, Dorothy Richardson who undertook various tours of England from the ages of twelve to fifty-two, and the sisters Katherine and Martha Wilmot who travelled to Russia in their late twenties. The supreme tourist of the book, the political salon hostess Lady Elizabeth Holland, travelled to many countries with her husband, including Paris where she met Napoleon and Spain during the Peninsular War. Using a methodology informed by literary and design theory, art history, material culture studies and tourism studies, the book examines a wide range of objects from painted fans of the ruins of Rome for a sequin apiece and the Pope's blessed beads to lava from Vesuvius and pieces of Stonehenge. It argues that the rise of the souvenir is representative of female agency as women used their souvenirs to form spaces in which they could create and control their own travel narratives.
