

Exploratory Essay Sheet

For your first essay for this course, you must write a persuasive exploratory paper in which you explain the controversy surrounding the issue you chose and state your position on the issue. The paper should present the preliminary research you have done to explore the three positions on the issue: the viewpoints in favor of (pro), against (con), and in the middle ground. Most of the paper will consist of your explanation of the three positions. The rest will consist of the preliminary case you will make for your position. Be as objective as you can in explaining the three positions. If you want to counter any of the points, you can do so when you present your case for your position.

The paper should conform to the standard organization of an academic paper: an introduction with clear thesis, body paragraphs with topic sentences, and conclusion. In the introduction, be sure to define the issue by briefly suggesting its history or background. When did your topic become controversial? What was the situation regarding the topic before the controversy arose? What was the situation after? What broader implications, if any, does the issue have? Don't forget to briefly define important terms and to provide brief explanations where necessary for an unfamiliar audience.

Your thesis should be a clear, direct statement that presents the three positions and that gives your position. You may have a single paragraph introduction with the thesis at or near the end of it. However, you also have the option of presenting your thesis in a paragraph later than the first one, similar to the placement of the thesis in the "Homosexual Marriage" essay. This choice is up to you: neither option is more "correct" than the other.

The body paragraphs should present in an objective discussion each of the three positions, as well as your case for your position. You should quote from, paraphrase, or summarize your source material in order to develop the body paragraphs. You may have only two block quotations of only four lines each. Use paraphrase and summary primarily to present the positions. Be sure to properly credit all source material (whether direct quotation, paraphrase, or summary) by using correct MLA documentation techniques.

In the conclusion, summarize the three positions. Then press your stand or point of view on the issue.

The Scott, Foresman Handbook with Writing Guide Maxine Hairston, John J. Ruszkiewicz, 1991 Engaging Ideas John C. Bean, Dan Melzer, 2021-06-09 Use your course's big ideas to accelerate students' growth as writers and critical thinkers. The newly revised third edition of Engaging Ideas delivers a step-by-step guide for designing writing assignments and critical thinking activities that engage students with important subject matter questions. This new edition of the celebrated book now written by the co-author team of Bean and Melzer uses leading and current research and theory to help you link active learning pedagogy to your courses' subject matter. You'll learn how to design formal and informal writing assignments that guide students toward thinking like experts in your discipline. Use time-saving strategies for coaching the writing process and handling the paper load, including alternatives to traditional grading such as portfolio assessment and contract grading. Help students use self-assessment and peer response to improve their work. Develop better ways than the traditional research paper to teach undergraduate reading and research. Integrate social media, multimodal genres, and digital technology into the classroom to promote active learning. This book demonstrates how writing can easily be integrated with other critical thinking activities such as inquiry discussions, simulation games, classroom debates, and interactive lectures. The reward of this book is watching students come to class better prepared, more vested in the questions your course investigates, more apt to study purposefully, and more likely to submit high-quality work. Perfect for higher education faculty and curriculum designers across all disciplines, Engaging Ideas will also earn a place in the libraries of graduate students in higher education.

The Scott, Foresman Handbook for Writers Maxine Hairston, John J. Ruszkiewicz, 1991 Writing in Response Matthew Parfitt, 2011-12-23 Writing in Response is a flexible brief rhetoric that offers a unique focus on the critical practices of experienced readers: analysis and reflection, the skills at the heart of academic writing. It helps students compose academic essays by showing how active reading and exploratory writing bring fresh ideas to light and how informal response is developed into polished, documented prose. Extensively class-tested, Writing in Response emphasizes the key techniques common to reading, thinking, and writing throughout the humanities and social sciences by teaching students the value of a social, incremental, and recursive writing process. Rienecker, Peter Stray Jørgensen, 2005-12-30 DAVID R RUSSELL English Department of Iowa State University U S A I was fortunate to attend as a visitor from the U S the first European Association for the Teaching of Academic Writing EATAW conference in 2001 at Groningen I was struck by the similarities in the challenges higher education faces on both sides of the Atlantic in terms of developing students academic writing and students learning through writing It is indeed an international problem But I was equally struck by the profound differences in responding to these challenges among institutions disciplines and even within disciplines The essays in this extraordinary volume address a growing demand for help with academic writing on the part of students and academic staff alike And they do so in ways that bring fresh approaches not only to Europeans who have only recently begun to study academic writing but also to researchers and academic staff in the U S where we have a century old tradition of attention to the problem but are much in need of these fresh approaches Academic writing has become a problem in higher education all around the world because higher education sits smack between two contradictory pressures On one end far more students and far more diverse students come streaming into higher education bringing in a far greater diversity of linguistic resources often interpreted as standards are falling as Frank Haacke Tente point out Geological Survey Professional Paper ,1961 U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper ,1961 Prophets Facing Backward Meera Nanda, 2003 The leading voices in science studies have argued that modern science reflects dominant social interests of Western society Following this logic postmodern scholars have urged postcolonial societies to develop their own alternative sciences as a step towards mental decolonization These ideas have found a warm welcome among Hindu nationalists who came to power in India in the early 1990s In this passionate and highly original study Indian born author Meera Nanda reveals how these well meaning but ultimately misguided ideas are enabling Hindu ideologues to propagate religious myths in the guise of science and secularism At the heart of Hindu supremacist ideology Nanda argues lies a postmodernist assumption that each society has its own norms of reasonableness logic rules of evidence and conception of truth and that there is no non arbitrary culture independent way to choose among these alternatives What is being celebrated as difference by postmodernists however has more often than not been the source of mental bondage and authoritarianism in non Western cultures The Vedic sciences currently endorsed in Indian schools colleges and the mass media promotes the same elements of orthodox Hinduism that have for centuries deprived the vast majority of Indian people of their full humanity By denouncing science and secularization the left was unwittingly contributing to what Nanda calls reactionary modernism In contrast Nanda points to the Dalit or untouchable movement as a true example of an alternative science that has embraced reason and modern science to challenge traditional notions of hierarchy
