animals of the Levant The book they published after their return ambitiously engaged with the potential of the new print medium to give an account of their experience The Peregrinatio also aspired to rouse readers to a new crusade against Islam by depicting a contest in the Mediterranean between the Christian bastion of the city of Venice and the region's Muslim empires This crusading rhetoric fit neatly with the state of the printing industry in Mainz which largely subsisted as a tool for bishops consolidation of authority including selling the pope's plans to combat the Ottoman Empire Taking an artist on such an enterprise was unprecedented Reuwich set a new benchmark for technical achievement with his woodcuts notably a panorama of Venice that folds out to 162 meters in length and a foldout map that stretches from Damascus to Sudan around the first topographically accurate view of Jerusalem The conception and execution of the Peregrinatio show how and why early printed books constructed new means of visual representation from existing ones and how the form of a printed book emerged out of the interaction of eyewitness experience and medieval scholarship real travel and spiritual pilgrimage curiosity and fixed belief texts and images

Stroud, 2015-04-21

Immanuel Kant is rarely connected to rhetoric by those who study philosophy or the rhetorical tradition If anything Kant is said to see rhetoric as mere manipulation and as not worthy of attention In Kant and the Promise of Rhetoric Scott Stroud presents a first of its kind reappraisal of Kant and the role he gives rhetorical practices in his philosophy By examining the range of terms that Kant employs to discuss various forms of communication Stroud argues that the general thesis that Kant disparaged rhetoric is untenable Instead he offers a more nuanced view of Kant on rhetoric and its relation to moral cultivation For Kant certain rhetorical practices in education religious settings and public argument become vital tools to move humans toward moral improvement without infringing on their individual autonomy Through the use of rhetorical means such as examples religious narratives symbols group prayer and fallibilistic public argument individuals can persuade other agents to move toward more cultivated states of inner and outer autonomy For the Kant recovered in this book rhetoric becomes another part of human activity that can be animated by the value of humanity and it can serve as a powerful tool to convince agents to embark on the arduous task of moral self cultivation

After The Boom In Tombstone And Jerome, Arizona Eric L. Clements, 2014-10-01 Focusing on two Arizona towns that had their origins in mining bonanzas Tombstone and Jerome historian Eric L Clements offers a rare study dissecting the process of bust itself the reasons and manners in which these towns declined as the mining booms ended Tombstone was the site of one of the great silver bonanzas of the nineteenth century a boom that started in the late 1870s and was over by 1890 Jerome's copper deposits were mined for much longer beginning in the 1880s and enduring until the 1930s But when the mining booms ended each town faced its decline in similar ways The process of decline was more complex than superficial histories have indicated and Clements discusses the role of labor unions in trying to stave off collapse the changing demography of decline the nature and expression of social tensions the impact on institutions such as churches and schools and the human responses to continued economic depression But bust involved more than a steady decline into ghost town status Clements discovers the towns remaining residents employed numerous strategies to survive and reduce household expenses In the end both towns reinvented themselves as late twentieth century tourist attractions
