recent research to examine the psychological and cultural implications of this new epidemic The result is the conclusion that feminist theory on sexual victimisation has gone both too far and not far enough The reader is presented with a challenging and original perspective on the issues of rape sex and the body incorporating subjects including rape as a social problem the social constructionism of sex subjectivity and the body heterosexuality under the microscope This book succeeds in making a valuable contribution to feminist and social contructionist work on rape that will be of interest to those studying psychology gender studies cultural studies and sociology Just Sex The Cultural Scaffolding of Rape was selected as a 2005 winner of AWP s Association for Women in Psychology distinguished publication award Space, Number, and Geometry from Helmholtz to Cassirer Francesca Biagioli, 2016-08-22 This book offers a reconstruction of the debate on non Euclidean geometry in neo Kantianism between the second half of the nineteenth century and the first decades of the twentieth century Kant famously characterized space and time as a priori forms of intuitions which lie at the foundation of mathematical knowledge The success of his philosophical account of space was due not least to the fact that Euclidean geometry was widely considered to be a model of certainty at his time However such later scientific developments as non Euclidean geometries and Einstein's general theory of relativity called into question the certainty of Euclidean geometry and posed the problem of reconsidering space as an open question for empirical research. The transformation of the concept of space from a source of knowledge to an object of research can be traced back to a tradition which includes such mathematicians as Carl Friedrich Gauss Bernhard Riemann Richard Dedekind Felix Klein and Henri Poincar and which finds one of its clearest expressions in Hermann von Helmholtz sepistemological works Although Helmholtz formulated compelling objections to Kant the author reconsiders different strategies for a philosophical account of the same transformation from a neo Kantian perspective and especially Hermann Cohen's account of the aprioricity of mathematics in terms of applicability and Ernst Cassirer's reformulation of the a priori of space in terms of a system of hypotheses. This book is ideal for students scholars and researchers who wish to broaden their knowledge of non Euclidean geometry or neo Kantianism Counselor's Desk Reference, Second Edition Mark A. Identity Theft, Second Edition Debra E. Meyerson, Steve Zuckerman, 2025-09-16 Identity Theft Second Edition is an award winning book that follows Stanford professor Debra Meyerson's journey to recover from a severe stroke that initially left her physically incapacitated and unable to speak In addition to providing realistic expectations for the hard work needed to regain everyday capabilities Meyerson and Zuckerman focus on the less frequently documented emotional journey as she and her family rebuild identity in recovery Virtually every stroke survivor is haunted by questions like Who am I now and How do I rebuild a meaningful and rewarding life after losing so much of what they had before capabilities careers and jobs relationships and more This is a book full of hope for survivors from stroke or other life changing injuries or illnesses as well as their care partners families and communities The first edition of Identity Theft centers on Debra's experience her stroke her extraordinary efforts to recover and her journey to redefine herself But she also draws on her skills as a social scientist sharing stories from several dozen fellow survivors family members friends colleagues therapists and doctors she has met and interviewed By sharing this diversity of experiences Debra highlights how every stroke is different and every recovery is different She provides a valuable look at the broad possibilities for successfully navigating the challenging physical recovery and the equally difficult and frequently unspoken emotional journey toward rebuilding one s identity and a rewarding life after a trauma like stroke This second edition is written by Debra and her husband Steve Zuckerman As they have shared in countless talks Just as the original book was headed to the printers we decided that the finish line had become a new starting line They co founded the nonprofit Stroke Onward where they have been working side by side to build an organization that can catalyze change in the healthcare system to better integrate the emotional journey of rebuilding identity into a lifelong recovery process This edition draws on five more years of experience as a post stroke couple and what they we learned from thousands more survivors family members and healthcare professionals. They we added new insights about the long term recovery process and how we can change the stroke system of care to better support all survivors and their families Their 4 500 mile bike ride called Stroke Across America in 2021 helped raise awareness for Stroke Onward and stroke suvivorship Seeing, second edition John P. Frisby, James V. Stone, 2010-04-02 An accessible yet rigorous and generously illustrated exploration of the computational approach to the study of biological vision Seeing has puzzled scientists and philosophers for centuries and it continues to do so This new edition of a classic text offers an accessible but rigorous introduction to the computational approach to understanding biological visual systems The authors of Seeing taking as their premise David Marr's statement that to understand vision by studying only neurons is like trying to understand bird flight by studying only feathers make use of Marr's three different levels of analysis in the study of vision the computational level the algorithmic level and the hardware implementation level Each chapter applies this approach to a different topic in vision by examining the problems the visual system encounters in interpreting retinal images and the constraints available to solve these problems the algorithms that can realize the solution and the implementation of these algorithms in neurons Seeing has been thoroughly updated for this edition and expanded to more than three times its original length It is designed to lead the reader through the problems of vision from the common but mistaken idea that seeing consists just of making pictures in the brain to the minutiae of how neurons collectively encode the visual features that underpin seeing Although it assumes no prior knowledge of the field some chapters present advanced material This makes it the only textbook suitable for both undergraduate and graduate students that takes a consistently computational perspective offering a firm conceptual basis for tackling the vast literature on vision It covers a wide range of topics including aftereffects the retina receptive fields object recognition brain maps Bayesian perception motion color and stereopsis MatLab code is available on the book s website which includes a simple demonstration of image convolution
