Faces In The Crowd:

A Face in the Crowd Barry Spencer, 2020-06-15 The book written by an ordinary member of the public argues that in spite of concerted efforts to derail his presidency Donald Trump through his life experience embodies many of the attributes of a great president What is so remarkable is not that he was elected against all expectations but that his presidency has proved to be so successful The media has portrayed Trump in the most negative terms possible to a degree that would have destroyed a lesser man The book demonstrates that this picture is almost entirely false Trump is president at a historic moment when the nation is polarized between radical progressives striving for fundamental change and conservatives who stand by traditional values Trump is not an ideologue but a pragmatist resisting social experimentation with the potential to be one of the greatest presidents in the history of the republic

Behavioral and Physiological Bases of Attentional Biases: Paradigms, Participants, and Stimuli Daniela M. Pfabigan,Ulrich S. Tran,2015-08-21 Attentional biases ABs play a prominent role in the development and maintenance of clinically relevant symptoms of for example anxiety and depression In particular increased attentional orienting and preoccupation with biologically relevant and mood congruent stimuli has been observed suggesting that the visual attentional system is overly sensitive towards threat cues and avoidant of cues of reward in these disorders First several experimental paradigms have been used to assess ABs e g the dot probe task the emotional stroop task and the spatial cueing task amongst others Yet these paradigms are based on different theoretical backgrounds and target different stages of the attentional process Thus different paradigms provided converging as well as diverging evidence with regard to ABs However it is often not entirely clear to what extent this reflects real differences and commonalities or is caused by differences in methodology For example behavioral reaction time data can only provide a snapshot of selective attention Measuring event related potentials eye movements or functional brain imaging data enables exploring the exact temporal and spatial dynamics of attentional processes Moreover neuroimaging data reveal specific cortical networks involved in directing attention toward a stimulus or disengaging from it Second ABs have been mainly discussed as symptoms of psychopathology while results in healthy participants are still scarce previous studies mostly compared extreme groups However a comprehensive theoretical and empirical account of ABs in psychopathology also requires a thorough account of ABs in the general healthy population Moreover the effect of gender as an important contributing factor in processing of emotional stimuli has also not been considered systematically in previous research Third a variety of stimuli has been used in the assessment of ABs So far mostly facial or word stimuli have been applied However in everyday life not only facial emotion recognition but also a fast evaluation of complex social situations is important to be effective in social interactions Recent research started using more complex stimuli to raise ecological validity However the use of ecologically valid stimuli poses some methodological challenges and needs to be applied more systematically The aim of this research topic is to integrate different paradigms and stimuli addressing individuals from the whole range of the population continuum and to apply different methodological approaches It is intended to bring together expertise in stimulus selection timing and implementing issues advancing and broadening the overall understanding of ABs

Late Modernism Robert Genter, 2011-06-06 In the thirty years after World War II American intellectual and artistic life changed as dramatically as did the rest of society Gone were the rebellious lions of modernism Joyce Picasso Stravinsky and nearing exhaustion were those who took up their mantle as abstract expressionism gave way to pop art and the barren formalism associated with the so called high modernists wilted before the hothouse cultural brew of the 1960s According to conventional thinking it was around this time that postmodernism with its characteristic skepticism and relativism was born In Late Modernism historian Robert Genter remaps the landscape of American modernism in the early decades of the Cold War tracing the combative debate among artists writers and intellectuals over the nature of the aesthetic form in an age of mass politics and mass culture Dispensing with traditional narratives that present this moment as marking the exhaustion of modernism Genter argues instead that the 1950s were the apogee of the movement as American practitioners abstract expressionists Beat poets formalist critics color field painters and critical theorists among others debated the relationship between form and content tradition and innovation aesthetics and politics In this compelling work of intellectual and cultural history Genter presents an invigorated tradition of late modernism centered on the work of Kenneth Burke Ralph Ellison C Wright Mills David Riesman Jasper Johns Norman Brown and James Baldwin a tradition that overcame the conservative and reactionary politics of competing modernist practitioners and paved the way for the postmodern turn of the 1960s
