Public Library Administration Transformed Karen Starr, Patrick Ragains, 2018-09-18 Public libraries have historically faced challenges as viable units in local government. As society struggles with issues related to the scope and effectiveness of government, librarians must ask: How and why will communities support public libraries in the 21st century? Public Library Administration Transformed covers public library administration in a comprehensive and detailed manner. Chapters cover administrative functions of the library, public finance, administrative law, library governance, human resources, leadership, strategic planning, program management and evaluation, marketing and public relations, intergovernmental relations, cooperative government. The discipline of public administration develops skills that are vital to successful libraries. Grounded in the context of public administration, this book provides a framework for future library services focusing on effective public sector skills, organizational and service innovation, information technology, readers and the full range of library constituents. Suitable for use in public library classes, exam copies are available to qualified instructors of such courses upon request.

Maintainability of Facilities Yit Lin Chew, 2016-08-19 This book focuses on spearheading the integration of maintainability and green facility management right from the design stage. The text introduces the concept of green maintainability and discusses considerations to maximize the performance by achieving resource and energy efficiency while minimizing the total life cycle cost in embodied energy, environmental impact and consumption of matter/energy throughout the life cycle of a facility by doing it right the first time. In this edition, existing chapters have been brought up to date to include contemporary sustainability concerns such as sustainability design, construction and materials, and maintainability of green features. Maintainability of Facilities is written for practitioners and students in architecture, engineering, building, real estate, construction, project management, facilities management, quantity and building surveying. Facility Management Alexander Redlein, 2004-08 Integration of processes and supporting IT tools is a key factor for successful Facility Management. After a review of the present situation of Facility Management, the author describes an integrated process model for the conception, planning and construction processes of facilities, providing integration into the whole life cycle. The target costing method is presented as a means to grant proper conception, planning and construction in accordance with the needs of the investor, the user and the operator. To be able to provide figures for the target costing methodology, a concept for efficient IT process support during the utilisation phase is developed. This includes two levels: the operative level and the controlling level, based on the data of the operative processes. The concept is based on standard reference models of the key FM processes of the utilisation phase and on an analysis of the existing functionality of the relevant IT tools. A concept for the integration of existing IT tools is presented that provides the necessary interaction and data exchange to support the newly introduced parts of the workflow. Based on this integration, unified objects are defined, combining the distributed information of the FM business objects This results in a joint FM database structure The support of the operative processes and the joint data structure enable standardised calculation of benchmarks for controlling purposes Finally these benchmarks are the basis for a statistical method that allows the calculation of the utilisation costs in the conception phase
