Work and Human Behavior Walter S. Neff, Work is a many sided human enterprise that has been written about from a great many different points of view representing almost every field of knowledge and almost every level of our social structure Merely to identify these points of view is an impressive task The subject of work has been written about by theologians and philosophers by poets and novelists by historians economists and sociologists by biologists and naturalists by politicians by essayists and journalists It has been described as both a blessing and a curse as the chief means through which man has developed a high culture and as a ravager of our natural environment Following the preface and an introductory chapter on the scope of the problem of work the title is divided up into four main sections which include The Nature of Work Clinical Issues Work and Mental Health and Some Contemporary Problems Since the first two editions new issues have arisen that are currently leading to a certain amount of public uproar The first issue concerns the sources of worker productivity prompted by the current decline of preeminence of United States industry both in the world market and in certain aspects of our internal market The second issue involves the complex relations between work and mental health with work being viewed on one hand as a factor in the generation of insecurity and mental illness and from another as a factor in the treatment of the severe mental disorders While much of the current published material on these two issues is characterized more by heat than by enlightenment the third edition includes new chapters in these widely debated areas

Walter S Neff 1910 1997 was Professor Emeritus New York University and professor of Psychiatry Psychology at the School of Medicine SUNY Stony Brook He was one of the pioneers in the developing and controversial field of psychiatric rehabilitation and his chief research focus has been in psychological problems of work and in use as a therapeutic medium for the emotionally disturbed He was a fellow of the American Psychological Association and Past President of the Division on the Psychological Aspects of Disability of the APA
