The Globalization of Internationalization Hans de Wit,Jocelyne

Gacel-Ávila, Elspeth Jones, Nico Jooste, 2017-01-20 The Globalization of Internationalization is a timely text which gives voice to emerging perspectives as an increasing range of countries engage in the process of internationalization. The pressure to internationalize cannot be ignored by institutions anywhere in today's world yet the dominant paradigms in the conception of internationalization traditionally come from the English speaking world and Western Europe. This book sets out to offer alternative viewpoints. Different dimensions and interpretations of internationalization in countries and regions whose perspectives have received little attention to date provide food for thought and help to broaden understanding of its application in alternative contexts. Combining diverse perspectives from around the world, this new volume in the Internationalization in Higher Education series seeks answers to key questions such as: What are the main characteristics of internationalization viewed from different cultural and regional backgrounds and how do they differ from traditional models such as in Western Europe, North America and Australasia? What issues in different global contexts have an impact on internationalization processes? What are the key challenges and obstacles encountered in developing innovative and non-traditional models of internationalization? With contributions from world renowned international authors and perspectives from countries and contexts seen only rarely in the literature, The Globalization of Internationalization offers distinctive overviews and insights while exploring a range of thematic and regional issues arising from these considerations. This will be essential reading both as an academic resource and a practical manual for university leaders, academics, higher education policy advisers and non-governmental organizations which fund higher education.

African Higher Education in the 21st Century, 2020-09-25 How can African philosophy of education contribute to contemporary debates in the context of complexities, dilemmas and uncertainties in African higher education? The capacity for self-reflection, self-evaluation and self-criticism enables African philosophy of higher education to examine and re-examine itself in the context of current issues in African higher education. The reflective capacity is in line with the Socratic dictum: know thyself. African Higher Education in the 21st Century: Epistemological, Ontological and Ethical Perspectives responds to the demands for reflection and self-knowledge by drawing from ontology, epistemology and ethics in an attempt to address issues that affect African higher education as they connect with the past, present and future.

Urban Political Ecology in the Anthropocene Henrik Ernstson, Erik Swyngedouw, 2018-12-07 Urban Political Ecology in the Anthropocene: Interruptions and Possibilities centres on how to organize anew the articulation between emancipatory theory and political activism. Across its theoretical and empirical chapters written by leading scholars from anthropology, geography, urban studies and political science, the book explores new political possibilities that are opening up in an age marked by proliferating contestations, sharpening socio-ecological inequalities and planetary processes of urbanization and environmental change. A deepened conversation between urban environmental studies and political theory is mobilized to chart a radically new direction for the field of urban political ecology and cognate disciplines. What could emancipatory politics be about in our time? What does a return of the political under the aegis of equality and freedom signal today in theory and in practice How do political movements emerge that could reinvent equality and freedom as actually existing socio ecological practices The hope is to contribute discussions that can expand and rearrange critical environmental studies to remain relevant in a time of deepening depoliticization and the rise of post truth politics Urban Political Ecology in the Anthropocene will be of interest to postgraduates established scholars and upper level undergraduates from any discipline or field with an interest in the interface between the urban the environment and the political including geography urban studies environmental studies and political science

Catsam,2021-08-28 Forty years ago a South African rugby tour in the United States became a crucial turning point for the nation's burgeoning protests against apartheid and a test of American foreign policy In Flashpoint How a Little Known Sporting Event Fueled America's Anti Apartheid Movement Derek Charles Catsam tells the fascinating story of the Springboks' 1981 US tour and its impact on the country's anti apartheid struggle The US lagged well behind the rest of the Western world when it came to addressing the vexing question of South Africa's racial policies but the rugby tour changed all that Those who had been a part of the country's tiny anti apartheid struggle for decades used the visit from one of white South Africa's most cherished institutions to mobilize against both apartheid sport and the South African regime more broadly Protestors met the South African team at airports chanted outside their hotels and courted arrests at matches which ranged from the bizarre to the laughable with organizers going to incredible lengths to keep their locations secret In telling the story of how a sport little appreciated in the United States nonetheless became ground zero for the nation's growing anti apartheid movement Flashpoint serves as a poignant reminder that sports and politics have always been closely intertwined

COVID-19 in the African Continent Evans Osabuohien,Gbadebo Odularu,Daniel Ufua,Romanus Osabohien,2022-05-23

COVID 19 in the African Continent examines the development achievements and challenges that have resulted owing to COVID 19 pandemic and how these precarious socioeconomic situations are being managed in African countries Names Fashioned by Gender Thenjiwe Meyiwa, Madoda Cekiso, 2023-12-01 Names are very powerful and significant especially in the African context Across societies there is a universal albeit taken for granted fact that all human beings have names Names Fashioned by Gender is a collection of essays on onomastics a linguistics field of study focusing on the origin form history and use of proper names The study of naming potentially provides significant evidence about the role of gender in the assimilation and or enculturation processes as personal names evoke insight into the construction of gender and personhood in African societies The book takes intellectual course from the idea that how names are viewed and used is heavily context dependent and gendered It demonstrates that personal names are narratives derived from different contexts within various cultures and circumstances subsequently imposing different identities on name bearers Through persuasive essays this book elucidates that naming is an activity that needs to be conducted cautiously because names tend to determine the destiny and character of an individual Print editions not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa

Going to University. The Influence of Higher Education on the Lives of Young South Africans Jennifer Case, Delia Marshall, 2018-02-09 Around the world more young people than ever before are attending university Student numbers in South Africa have doubled since democracy and for many families higher education is a route to a better future for their children But alongside the overwhelming demand for higher education questions about its purposes have intensified Deliberations about the curriculum culture and costing of public higher education abound from student activists academics parents civil society and policy makers We know from macro research that South African graduates generally have good employment prospects But little is known at a detailed level about how young people actually make use of their university experiences to craft their life courses And even less is known about what happens to those who drop out This accessible book brings together the rich life stories of 73 young people six years after they began their university studies It traces how going to university influences not only their employment options but also nurtures the agency needed to chart their own way and to engage critically with the world around them The book offers deep insights into the ways in which public higher education is both a private and public good and it provides significant conclusions pertinent to anyone who works in and cares about universities

Guerrilla Radios in Southern Africa Sekibakiba Peter Lekgoathi, Tshepo Moloji, Alda Romão Saúte Saíde, 2020-11-03 Guerrilla Radios in Southern Africa is a collection of essays on the histories of the different radios of the liberation movements in the region during the era of the armed struggle From Angola and Mozambique to Namibia Zimbabwe and South Africa the new technology of radio provided the liberation movements in exile with a platform to address their followers at home to propagate their ideologies and to counter the propaganda of the oppressive white minority regimes As the cheapest and most direct medium guerrilla radios transcended the boundaries imposed by the settler regimes and were widely listened to albeit within the realm of illegality Transnational in its approach the book explores the workings of these radios from their areas of broadcast in exile international solidarity to reception at home where listeners often huddled around their receivers to listen to the messages from the liberation movements often beyond the gaze of the state These radios shaped the nature of resistance campaigns that the liberation movements embarked upon in the various countries in the region
