Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight loss, frequent urination, blurred vision, slow wound healing, and frequent weight changes, persistent acne, rashes, or itching in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released into the bloodstream by endocrine glands. They travel through the bloodstream and bind to target cells, which then respond to the signal. Hormones can affect many different parts of the body, such as growth, metabolism, and reproduction.

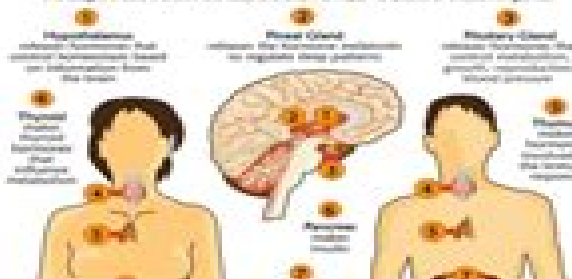

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when one is really frightened. The body's fight-or-flight response is the body's way of reacting to a dangerous situation. When a person is scared, the body's fight-or-flight response is triggered. The body's fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when one is really frightened. The body's fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when one is really frightened.

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are many different types of glands in the body. Some glands are endocrine glands, which release hormones into the bloodstream. Other glands are exocrine glands, which release substances into the body through a duct.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine systems are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain a balance of hormones. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body's feedback loop triggers a response to bring the level back to normal. This process is called a feedback loop.
