Executive Summary Of The Poverty Of Nations:

A Poverty Profile of Cambodia Nicholas M. Prescott, Menno Pradhan, 1997-01-01 China is in the throes of two transitions from a command economy to a market based one and from a rural agricultural society to an urban industrial one So far both transitions have been spectacularly successful China is the fastest growing economy in the world with per capita incomes more than quadrupling since 1978 achieving in two generations what took other countries centuries Although swift growth and structural change have resolved many problems they also have created new challenges employment insecurity growing inequality stubborn poverty mounting environmental pressures rising costs of food self sufficiency and periods of macroeconomic instability stemming from incomplete reforms Unmet these challenges could undermine the sustainability of growth and China s promise could fade China 2020 a seven volume set examines China s recent history where it is today and the path it should follow during the first two decades of the 21st century The volume in the set entitled Financing Health Care Issues and Options for China assesses the state of health care in China and addresses the problems facing the sector in terms of financial access to health care efficiency and total cost Although the health sector is in relatively good condition today this study asserts the need to promptly make policy changes to ensure universal health care coverage by either the public or the private sector over the next two decades Chapters focus on the effects of reduced public health spending on rural populations the likely increase in health costs as the population ages the harmful effects of tobacco use and fee for service provider systems Executive summary and major conclusions and recommendations United States. International Human Rights Law and Destitution Luke Graham, 2022-08-18 This book explores destitution from the perspective of international human rights law and more specifically economic social and cultural rights The experience of destitution correlates to the non realisation of a range of economic social and cultural rights However destitution has not been defined from this perspective Consequently the nexus between destitution and the denial of economic social and cultural rights remains unrecognised within academia and policy and practice This book expressly addresses this issue and in so doing renders the nexus between destitution and the non realisation of these rights visible The book proposes a new human rights based definition of destitution composed of two parts The rights which must be realised the component rights and the level of realisation of these rights which must be met the destitution threshold to avoid destitution This human rights based understanding of destitution is then applied to a UK case study to highlight the relationship between government policy and destitution to illustrate how destitution manifests itself and to make recommendations founded upon engendering the realisation of economic social and cultural rights aimed towards addressing destitution This book will have global and cross sectoral appeal to anti poverty advocates policy makers as well as to researchers academics and students in the fields of human rights law poverty studies and social policy

A New Blueprint for a Green Economy Edward B. Barbier, Anil Markandya, 2013-06-03 Published in 1989 Blueprint for a Green Economy presented for the first time practical policy measures for greening modern economies and putting them on a path to sustainable development This new book written by two of the Blueprint for a Green Economy authors revisits and updates its main messages by asking first what has been achieved in the past twenty years and second what more needs to be done to generate a truly green economy in the twenty first century Blueprint for a Green Economy had one over arching theme Making economies more sustainable requires urgent progress in three key policy areas valuing the environment accounting for the environment and incentives for environmental improvement Today with the threat of global warming the decline in major ecosystems and their services and fears over energy security achieving these goals is even more vital The current book first summarizes the main messages from Blueprint for a Green Economy and explains why given rapid and widespread global environmental degradation they are still relevant The book then examines the progress since Blueprint for a Green Economy in implementing policies and other measures to improve environmental valuation accounting and incentives Although much has been accomplished additional advances are still required to green economies successfully The book highlights the new policies and approaches needed for economic management of today s environmental concerns Over twenty years later A New Blueprint for a Green Economy once again emphasizes practical policies for greening modern economies and explains why such an economic roadmap to a greener future is essential if modern economies are to develop successfully and sustainably Congressional Record United States.
